In His Father's Barn
Yesterday.

HAD BEEN IN ILL HEALTH

It Is Supposed He Committed the Rash Act In a Fit of Despondency.

HAD WORKED IN YOUNGSTOWN

Lisbon, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The usually quiet hamlet of Signal, near this place, was startled yesterday by the news of a suicide which occurred there during the afternoon.

Park Haas, son of Reuben Haas, residing near Signal, had been working in Youngstown for several months and returned to his father's home the other day.

The young man had been in ill health for some time and this is assigned as the cause of his action.

He was found hanging by a rope to the rafters in the barn and was quite dead when found by members of the family.

Deceased was 20 years of age and bore a good reputation. It is thought he became melancholy on account of the condition of his health, and in a fit of despondency took his own life.

DIED SUDDENLY.

George Johnson, an Aged Colored Man,
Expired Yesterday
Morning.

George Johnson, a colored man who resides on the Southside near the brick yard, died yesterday.

He was aged 76 years and death was caused by a complication of diseases.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be made at Locust Grove cemetery at Chester.

The deceased was a veteran of the civil war. Both the mother and daughter were absent when the man died, and they claim they did not know he was so sick or they would not have left him.

The whole Johnson family are notorious because of their connection with most of the rows around the upper end of Chester.

Mrs. Johnson came home the other night drunk and two black eyes bore witness to the fact that she had added another to her long list of scraps. A man by the name of George Steele was with her and had helped the matter along. They are all a bad lot.

BASE BALL.

The Lovers of the Game Are Jubilant
Over Five Straights by Pittsburg.

The Pittsburg base ball club has many admirers in East Liverpool, and the said enthusiasts are very jubilant over the fact of the Pittsburg boys having taken the scalps of the bean eating fraternity of ball tossers, from the classic shades of cultured Massachusetts, in five successive contests. Five straights is too utterly utter, and the Keystone boys are making a great pace for first place. It remains to be seen what they can do with the other crack teams of the big league. They seem to have a cinch on second place in the race. Pittsburg would go wild if its team could reach the head of the list. The Keystone boys will next tackle the champion Brooklyn, playing them a series of four games on the home grounds of the New Yorkers, and this will determine very largely the result of the contest for the head of the ticket. Honus Wagner has proven himself to be a rich treasure, and big Rube Waddell has again caught on in the game. The sports are looking for wonderful ball playing at Brooklyn.

A LOST CHILD.

She Wandered from Her Home Yesterday And Was Gone Several Hours.

The 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wooley, of Sunnyside, wandered away from its home yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock and it was only after a search of several hours that she was located and taken to the home of George Welsh, Seventh street.

The little one was a good walker for her age, and having visited the Welsh family frequently in company with her parents, yesterday concluded to pay a visit to her relatives on her own account, but in some manner lost her bearings and wandered about for several hours.

She was not missed from her home for some time, and the parents were greatly alarmed when her absence was discovered. The police were notified and the search was begun, but it was not until about 5 o'clock last evening that she was found by John Creal on Seventh street.

FRENCH SENTENCED.

The Bicycle Thief Received a Salty
Dose at Salem Yesterday.

Salem News.

William French pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny when arraigned before Mayor Huxley yesterday afternoon.

William Walker, of New Waterford, from whom French had purloined a wheel which he sold to Sebring parties, was in the city to appear against him with W. B. Thomas.

The mayor did not impose the penalty until last evening, when he sentenced French to 30 days' servitude in the Canton workhouse and fined him $20 and costs. Unless some of his friends pay the fine and costs, French will have to remain in the workhouse about four months.

Marshal Johnson took the prisoner to Canton this morning.

GOODE IS HERE.

He Denies That He Carried an Insurance Policy for $700.

B. E. Goode, of Jethro, whose house was burned to the ground one week ago today and who has been visiting at Powhatan, Belmont county, Ohio, arrived home yesterday and was surprised to find that his house had burned down, as he had received no word to that effect.

Mr. Goode states that nothing was saved and he had no insurance on the household goods or the stock in the store.

May They be Blessed.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist Protestant church today handed in the sum of $5 for the India famine fund. Money went forward today. God bless the generous givers.

WILL REVISE THE BY-LAW

Their Regular Meeting Held

THREE DELEGATES WERE SEATED

Much Business Transacted, but It
Was In the Main of a Private Nature.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE PRESENT

Trades Council met in regular semi-monthly session last evening and transacted a great deal of business, but the majority of the transactions were of a private nature.

President D. M. McLane was in the chair and the attendance was unusually large. After the minutes had been approved the credential committee recommended the seating of the following delegates:

Dishmakers No. 27, Albert Wood and Everett Rose; retail grocery and butcher clerks, James S. Connell.

The Labor day picnic committee reported progress. They had not gotten affairs in shape for a complete report and the final accounting will be announced at the next meeting.

They announced that it had been decided, in view of the fact that all the prizes were left on their hands, that the bicycle races should be pulled off on Monday, September 17, in the afternoon, and the body was asked to aid in every manner possible to make the affair a success.

The grievance committee made a partial report on the progress made in the machinists' difficulties which have been hanging fire for more than a year. A full report on this matter will be made at the next meeting of the organization.

The subject of a change in the by-laws was brought up and after considerable discussion it was decided that a revision was necessary.

IN THE CITY.

Hon. E. J. Clapp, of Warren, O., an East Liverpool
Visitor.

Hon. E. J. Clapp, of Warren, Ohio, is an East Liverpool visitor. He was formerly a member of the house of representatives and was a warm personal friend of Hon. A. H. McCoy, deceased. Mr. Clapp will visit Comrade McCoy's last resting place, and make himself fully acquainted with the details of the sad accident which resulted in his death. While here Mr. Clapp will make his home with D. J. Smith, Mount Pisgah, and will attend to special business in connection with the soldiers' widows home, of Geauga county.

GOOSE PASTURED.

A Young Colored Man of the City
Furnished Fun for a Large Crowd
Last Night.

A well known colored barber of the city was goose pastured last night by a large crowd of colored people.

The parties that took him out claim that he thought he was better than them and decided to see if he was a faster runner than the members of their crowd. He was taken up to the new reservoir and at a signal a gun was discharged, which scared the young man so that he started to run, and the other fellows armed with barrel staves and laying in the bushes helped him along considerably.

They claim that he did it in 2:10, as he was going so fast that he could not be seen for dust. He will feel the effects of the barrel staves for several days.

ROVERS ON DECK.

This Fine Foot Ball Team Will Again
Do Battle for Supremacy.

At the stated meeting of the association foot ball players last night the old Rovers' club was again started for the coming season.

Twenty-seven men joined the club and officers were elected as follows: Chairman, H. C. Smith; secretaries, J. Wollcraft, T. Watkins, Jr.; treasurer, George Hall; board of managers, Edwin Simpson, William Wase, S. Leighton, William Pope, George Hall; captain, George Hall; vice captain, William Pope.

The club intends to have a vigorous season and expects to have a winning team in the field.

The News Review wishes this team the success it deserves. Discipline, study and practice will knock the persimmons. Legitimate sport, like unto foot ball and base ball conducted aright and on principles of fairness and justice, is commendable, and is the very essence of healthful exercise.

A NUISANCE.

This Canine is a Howler And a Peace
Disturber from Away
Back.

Between Forest and Kossuth streets and Walnut and College street, in the alley way, there exists a dog which is a condemned nuisance to the entire neighborhood. The said canine possesses a falsetto voice, with a patent tremulo attachment, introducing a beautiful note of discord with about every other howl, and keeping the entrancing and soothing melody going continuously, by day and by night, establishing a record for perseverance and continuity. Marshal Thompson is said to be an expert with the use of the revolver at short range. The community at large will grant the marshal the privilege of practice at this music producer, and will not complain if he shatters case, chords and keys and sends the operator to the happy hunting grounds.

PETERSON-HOWARD,

Two Popular Young People of the City Were Married Last Night.

Byron Peterson and Miss Ida Howard were united in marriage last night at 8 o'clock by Rev. Edwin Weary at the home of J. J. Shingler on Sugar street, only the immediate friends of the family were present.

They left on the midnight train for a trip to Cleveland, Detroit and Buffalo.

The young people have a host of friends in the city who will join the News Review in wishing them much happiness.

DIXON CRUSHED BY AN ELEVATOR

Was Employed In the Warehouse
at the Harker Pottery
Company.

INJURIES MAY PROVE FATAL

They Are of an Internal Nature,
and Little Can Be Told at Present.

RESIDES ON LOWER JEFFERSON

Silas D. Dixon, warehouse man at the Harker pottery, met with what may prove a fatal accident yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Dixon was on the second floor and wanted to come down, but when he started the elevator it went up instead of down and he was caught between the elevator and the third floor, being pinned so tight that it was necessary to tear up the floor before he could be released.

The patrol was called and the injured man taken to the office of Dr. J. T. Elliott, but was later taken to his boarding house on Jefferson street, where an examination showed that he was injured internally, being crushed from the stomach to the shoulders.

Dixon is the son of Rev. W. W. Dixon, pastor of the Baptist church at New Matamoras, which is the young man's home.

The physician is unable to tell just how badly the man is hurt, owing to the internal injuries, and will not be able to do so for some time, as only time can develop a case of that character, but the injuries may prove of such a nature as to cause his death.

ROBERT SHON

Was Thrown from His Wheel on Fifth Street And Was Hurt.

Robert Shon got a bad fall on Fifth street Tuesday night, and although not seriously hurt, he will not be able to ride a bicycle for some time to come.

As he was passing a point near the First M. E. church some one in that vicinity started a dog after the bicycle Shon was riding, with the result that wheel, boy and dog went down in one ignominious heap on the pavement.

Bystanders seeing the boy was badly hurt hurried to his assistance and he was taken to Dr. Ogden's office nearby. An examination showed his right arm to be badly bruised, he having alighted with his full weight upon the member.

The injury is causing the boy considerable trouble.

THE SITUATION AT PEKING STILL GRAVE.

Last Night.

A well known colored barber of the city was goose pastured last night by a large crowd of colored people. The parties that took him out claim that he thought he was better than them and decided to see if he was a faster runner than the members of their crowd. He was taken up to the new reservoir and at a signal a gun was discharged, which scared the young man so that he started to run, and the other fellows armed with barrel staves and laying in the bushes helped him along considerably.

They claim that he did it in 2:10, as he was going so fast that he could not be seen for dust. He will feel the effects of the barrel staves for several days.

ROVERS ON DECK.

Do Battle for Supremacy.

At the stated meeting of the association foot ball players last night the old Rovers' club was again started for the coming season.

Twenty-seven men joined the club and officers were elected as follows: Chairman, H. C. Smith; secretaries, J. Wollcraft, T. Watkins, jr.; treasurer, George Hall; board of managers, Edwin Simpson, William Wase, S. Leighton, William Pope, George Hall; captain, George Hall; vice captain, William Pope.

The club intends to have a vigorous season and expects to have a winning team in the field.

The News Review wishes this team the success it deserves. Discipline, study and practice will knock the persimmons. Legitimate sport, like unto foot ball and base ball conducted aright and on principles of fairness and justice, is commendable, and is the very essence of healthful exercise.

A NUISANCE.

Back.

Between Forest and Kossuth streets and Walnut and College street, in the alley way, there exists a dog which is a condemned nuisance to the entire neighborhood. The said canine possesses a falsetto voice, with a patent tremulo attachment, introducing a beautiful note of discord with about every other howl, and keeping the entrancing and soothing melody going continuously, by day and by night, establishing a record for perseverance and continuity. Marshal Thompson is said to be an expert with the use of the revolver at short range. The community at large will grant the marshal the privilege of practice at this music producer, and will not complain if he shatters case, chords and keys and sends the operator to the happy hunting grounds.

PETERSON-HOWARD,

Two Popular Young People of the City Were Married Last Night.

Byron Peterson and Miss Ida Howard were united in marriage last night at 8 o'clock by Rev. Edwin Weary at the home of J. J. Shingler on Sugar street, only the immediate friends of the family were present.

They left on the midnight train for a trip to Cleveland, Detroit and Buffalo.

The young people have a host of friends in the city who will join the News Review in wishing them much happiness.

DIXON CRUSHED BY AN ELEVATOR

Was Employed In the Warehouse
Company.

INJURIES MAY PROVE FATAL

They Are of an Internal Nature,
and Little Can Be Told at Present.

RESIDES ON LOWER JEFFERSON

Silas D. Dixon, warehouse man at the Harker pottery, met with what may prove a fatal accident yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Dixon was on the second floor and wanted to come down, but when he started the elevator it went up instead of down and he was caught between the elevator and the third floor, being pinned so tight that it was necessary to tear up the floor before he could be released.

The patrol was called and the injured man taken to the office of Dr. J. T. Elliott, but was later taken to his boarding house on Jefferson street, where an examination showed that he was injured internally, being crushed from the stomach to the shoulders.

Dixon is the son of Rev. W. W. Dixon, pastor of the Baptist church at New Matamoras, which is the young man's home.

The physician is unable to tell just how badly the man is hurt, owing to the internal injuries, and will not be able to do so for some time, as only time can develop a case of that character, but the injuries may prove of such a nature as to cause his death.

ROBERT SHON

Was Thrown from His Wheel on Fifth Street And Was Hurt.

Robert Shon got a bad fall on Fifth street Tuesday night, and although not seriously hurt, he will not be able to ride a bicycle for some time to come.

As he was passing a point near the First M. E. church some one in that vicinity started a dog after the bicycle Shon was riding, with the result that wheel, boy and dog went down in one ignominious heap on the pavement.

Bystanders seeing the boy was badly hurt hurried to his assistance and he was taken to Dr. Ogden's office nearby. An examination showed his right arm to be badly bruised, he having alighted with his full weight upon the member.

The injury is causing the boy considerable trouble.

HELP—GOD WILL REWARD YOU

"You surely will go to Agra and see the Taj Mahal before you sail?" said my companion when I informed him that we were that day to begin the last trip before our return home.

"Everybody that comes to India visits at least that," added he by way of encouragement when I shook my head negatively. We had come to see the famine fields and our time was getting short and every moment of it was mortgaged in advance up to the hour of our departure. Relief operations were of immediate and urgent importance. So we started off that night for Baroda, a city of 110,000 inhabitants, the capital of a native state of that name, arriving at 7 a. m.

The gaekwar was off on a visit to England, there to be presented to the Prince of Wales and the queen, hence there was no invitation awaiting us to visit the new and imposing princely palace, but nevertheless, on our way from the station we passed through it and admired its magnificent architecture and sumptuous modern furnishings. Strange to relate, there was not a soul to inquire into the why and wherefore of our presence. All was as quiet as the interior of a magnificent mausoleum. The garden surrounding the palace was in a fair state of cultivation, but no bird carolled its morning lay, and neither the buzz of the bee, nor the chirp of the cricket relieved the mournful monotony of the oppressive silence.

We spent a few moments inspecting the never-failing well, dug at an expense of nine lakhs of rupees, or about $300,000. We then wended our way through the narrow, dirty streets of the capital to the place where once the poor house was located; but on our arrival there we were informed that, owing to the abnormal increase in the number of its inmates, it had been removed to a more capacious quarter a mile off. Thither we directed our steps, and in due time we reached the antithesis of the gaekwar's palace. As rich as were his quarters, so destitute was the poor house. In my note book I wrote a line that reads: "This is the worst I have yet seen;" and as I recall it now I marvel that I ever had the courage to pass into and through the filthy wards and more filthy yard that constituted this shocking blot on civilization.

I had become accustomed to sights nauseating and revolting, but the Baroda poor house stands out as the most terrible conglomeration of abject misery that ever met my gaze. The sun's rays penetrated my pith hat and dazed brain and eyes, while an effluvia of concentrated decomposition rendered breathing both difficult and dangerous. Almost stifled and stupefied we wended our way through the dead and the dying, with smallpox, dysentery, fever and cholera to the right and to the left, leaving terror behind us only to find horror awaiting us.

I left Baroda for the last of these letters because I was painfully conscious of the paucity of my vocabulary to do justice to the subject, and after I have written the worst, I shall feel that even then I have only faintly indicated the real condition of affairs.

At the entrance to the poor house stood a woman, blind. I had often seen women who had lost their sight as the result of the horrible famine, but I had never seen one who looked as did this woman. Reduced to a living skeleton, the balls of her eyes were actually decaying in the sockets of her ghastly skull, and flies innumerable were acting the part of scavengers undisturbed.

She stood bareheaded in a sun which would have been fatal to me in less time than it takes to write this incident. Her claw-like hands inactive hung down her sides until she heard our footsteps. Then they were raised appealingly in the direction of the sound, while she mumbled almost inaudibly her plaintive petition. Not realizing at first that she was blind, I walked up close to her, when another more frantic effort on her part brought her two hands in direct contact with my face.

I shuddered as I felt the cold, clammy touch, but being blind she could not see it. I quickly got beyond her reach, and then, as I supposed, unobserved, placed a rupee in her hand. In another instant a dozen other miserable remnants of humanity pressed forward, pleading vociferously for help. Just then the attendant appeared and promptly ordered them back. What might have happened but for his timely interference I dread to contemplate, as Mr. Freese and Mr. Hudson, who has since died of cholera, with my other companions had advanced more quickly and were beyond the reach of my voice.

I entered the first of many wards separated from one another by a bamboo partition. It was full of patients suffering from every manner of ailment. Cholera, dysentery and guinea-worm predominated. On some cots the unfortunates were doubled up. The temperature was torrid. The air was laden with an odor superlatively offensive. It was thick with effluvia of the vilest stamp. The cots were defiled, reeking with filth. Pain, misery, helplessness were on every hand. The agonizing groans of men and women writhing in cholera's fatal and unyielding grip were almost beyond endurance.

No attempt was made at treatment. I called for the physician. There was none. A hospital assistant with not as much knowledge of medicine as an apprentice in a pharmacy was in charge.

"How many of these people will be saved?" I asked. "They come here to die," was the stoic response. It was the abomination of desolation. I would gladly have given at that moment all that I possessed had it been in my power to afford relief even for one single hour to those whose piteous gaze between the spasms mutely appealed to the white man for the help that they vaguely longed for yet did not expect, and which he unfortunately was unable to render. Never, never shall I forget that sad experience. But what we saw in the first ward was only a specimen of all the others. We traveled from ward to ward only to repeat the same experience. Our heartstrings were wrung until the ever-present consciousness of our own utter helplessness became so oppressive that a continuation of the tour threatened to unnerve us.

We stepped out into the square skirted by the bamboo enclosure and into the brazen sun. There, before us on the ground, without shade or protection of any kind, stark naked, lay a number of women in the last throes of the cholera. Two of them were moaning piteously. They seemed unconscious, yet the contortions of their bodies indicated that they were suffering intense pain. We called an attendant and ordered him to carry the women under shelter from the burning rays.

TAKE WARNING.

A Peculiar Note of Warning, at the Hands of a Prominent Citizen.

Editor News Review—I am not an alarmist. Neither am I a cheap sensationalist. And, further, I am attending to my own business, and endeavoring to prevent a tragedy in our city. I am cognizant of the fact that a prominent citizen of East Liverpool is treading, figuratively speaking, on a smouldering volcano, and that an eruption is likely to take place at any minute, resulting, possibly, in loss of life and a shower of shame and sorrow in more than one family. I further know that the individual I refer to will read this article, and that he will know that I mean him as the person dangerously near the deadly crater. It lies with him to avoid trouble. Will he do it? I don't know. He is a sneak and a coward; but his infatuation is great and may render him reckless respecting the risk he runs. I have given him a chance. He knows me well, and he will do well for himself if he takes this warning and thus avoids the hot punishment he so richly deserves. As far as he is personally concerned, I don't care the toss of a farthing as to any punishment which might be dealt out to him; but I do care very much for those with whom he is connected.

Any one desiring to swell the party will leave their names at the office of E. W. Hill, as a special rate will be gotten for the trip.

THE SILVER TRUST.

Say About Bryan in the
Year 1896.

The Chicago Chronicle is now an ardent and aggressive advocate of William Jennings Bryan. That paper must have found it profitable to enter into the service and pay of the owners of the Big Bonanzas, the greatest, most powerful and most dictatorial trust within the confines of this nation. The truth appears to be that the owners of the Big Bonanza Silver mines are now the owners and operators of the Chicago Chronicle, as that paper was a great stumbling block for William Jennings Bryan and his owners. Read very carefully what the Windy City sheet said in the year 1896:

On this question of his relations to the Silver Trust the following statement, published July 11, 1896, by his now ardent supporter, the Chicago Chronicle, will be accepted as authoritative:

"The proprietors of the Big Bonanzas have found it profitable to keep a large number of orators, lecturers and other spokesmen on the road. Among the men who have been thus employed and carried on the pay roll of the Big Bonanzas for a number of years is Wm. J. Bryan, of Nebraska. A paid agent of and spokesman for the silver combine, he has not since his retirement from congress had any other visible means of support. The richest men in the world, the proprietors of the Big Bonanzas, hire orators like Bryan exactly as other wealthy men hire fiddlers, and value them about as highly. Silver orators, like fiddlers, come in at the back doors of the Big Bonanzas and eat at the servants' table. Since he holds that relationship to the Big Bonanzas, Wm. J. Bryan's nomination by their order, and as a result of the free use of their money, becomes an insult to the American people of no small proportions."

Fatherless.

There's something about the little black dress that touches a man in a very tender spot. He pats the little one on the head, puts some pennies in her hand, swallows hard and then—starts out to make his own children fatherless. There is no doubt that many a man is taken from his family by neglect of simple precautions which would preserve his health. Disease generally begins nowadays in "stomach trouble" because the meals are hasty and the food not digested. From that beginning come disorders of the blood, liver, kidneys, heart or nerves. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition will avert the catastrophe of more serious disease. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, nourishes the nerves, and builds men up in both brain and body.

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Discovery" where a laxative is required.

We had come to see the famine fields and our time was getting short and every moment of it was mortgaged in advance up to the hour of our departure. Relief operations were of immediate and urgent importance. So we started off that night for Baroda, a city of 110,000 inhabitants, the capital of a native state of that name, arriving at 7 a. m.

The gaekwar was off on a visit to England, there to be presented to the Prince of Wales and the queen, hence there was no invitation awaiting us to visit the new and imposing princely palace, but nevertheless, on our way from the station we passed through it and admired its magnificent architecture and sumptuous modern furnishings. Strange to relate, there was not a soul to inquire into the why and wherefore of our presence. All was as quiet as the interior of a magnificent mausoleum. The garden surrounding the palace was in a fair state of cultivation, but no bird carolled its morning lay, and neither the buzz of the bee, nor the chirp of the cricket relieved the mournful monotony of the oppressive silence.

We spent a few moments inspecting the never-failing well, dug at an expense of nine lakhs of rupees, or about $300,000. We then wended our way through the narrow, dirty streets of the capital to the place where once the poor house was located; but on our arrival there we were informed that, owing to the abnormal increase in the number of its inmates, it had been removed to a more capacious quarter a mile off. Thither we directed our steps, and in due time we reached the antithesis of the gaekwar's palace. As rich as were his quarters, so destitute was the poor house. In my note book I wrote a line that reads: "This is the worst I have yet seen," and as I recall it now I marvel that I ever had the courage to pass into and through the filthy wards and more filthy yard that constituted this shocking blot on civilization.

I had become accustomed to sights nauseating and revolting, but the Baroda poor house stands out as the most terrible conglomeration of abject misery that ever met my gaze. The sun's rays penetrated my pith hat and dazed brain and eyes, while an effluvia of concentrated decomposition rendered breathing both difficult and dangerous. Almost stifled and stupefied we wended our way through the dead and the dying, with smallpox, dysentery, fever and cholera to the right and to the left, leaving terror behind us only to find horror awaiting us.

I left Baroda for the last of these letters because I was painfully conscious of the paucity of my vocabulary to do justice to the subject, and after I have written the worst, I shall feel that even then I have only faintly indicated the real condition of affairs.

At the entrance to the poor house stood a woman, blind. I had often seen women who had lost their sight as the result of the horrible famine, but I had never seen one who looked as did this woman. Reduced to a living skeleton, the balls of her eyes were actually decaying in the sockets of her ghastly skull, and flies innumerable were acting the part of scavengers undisturbed.

She stood bareheaded in a sun which would have been fatal to me in less time than it takes to write this incident. Her claw-like hands inactive hung down her sides until she heard our footsteps. Then they were raised appealingly in the direction of the sound, while she mumbled almost inaudibly her plaintive petition. Not realizing at first that she was blind, I walked up close to her, when another more frantic effort on her part brought her two hands in direct contact with my face.

I shuddered as I felt the cold, clammy touch, but being blind she could not see it. I quickly got beyond her reach, and then, as I supposed, unobserved, placed a rupee in her hand. In another instant a dozen other miserable remnants of humanity pressed forward, pleading vociferously for help. Just then the attendant appeared and promptly ordered them back. What might have happened but for his timely interference I dread to contemplate, as Mr. Freese and Mr. Hudson, who has since died of cholera, with my other companions had advanced more quickly and were beyond the reach of my voice.

I entered the first of many wards separated from one another by a bamboo partition. It was full of patients suffering from every manner of ailment. Cholera, dysentery and guinea-worm predominated. On some cots the unfortunates were doubled up. The temperature was torrid. The air was laden with an odor superlatively offensive. It was thick with effluvia of the vilest stamp. The cots were defiled, reeking with filth. Pain, misery, helplessness were on every hand. The agonizing groans of men and women writhing in cholera's fatal and unyielding grip were almost beyond endurance.

No attempt was made at treatment. I called for the physician. There was none. A hospital assistant with not as much knowledge of medicine as an apprentice in a pharmacy was in charge.

"How many of these people will be saved?" I asked. "They come here to die," was the stoic response. It was the abomination of desolation. I would gladly have given at that moment all that I possessed had it been in my power to afford relief even for one single hour to those whose piteous gaze between the spasms mutely appealed to the white man for the help that they vaguely longed for yet did not expect, and which he unfortunately was unable to render. Never, never shall I forget that sad experience. But what we saw in the first ward was only a specimen of all the others. We traveled from ward to ward only to repeat the same experience. Our heartstrings were wrung until the ever-present consciousness of our own utter helplessness became so oppressive that a continuation of the tour threatened to unnerve us.

We stepped out into the square skirted by the bamboo enclosure and into the brazen sun. There, before us on the ground, without shade or protection of any kind, stark naked, lay a number of women in the last throes of the cholera. Two of them were moaning piteously. They seemed unconscious, yet the contortions of their bodies indicated that they were suffering intense pain. We called an attendant and ordered him to carry the women under shelter from the burning rays.

TAKE WARNING.

A Peculiar Note of Warning, at the
Citizen.

Editor News Review—I am not an alarmist. Neither am I a cheap sensationalist. And, further, I am attending to my own business, and endeavoring to prevent a tragedy in our city. I am cognizant of the fact that a prominent citizen of East Liverpool is treading, figuratively speaking, on a smoldering volcano, and that an eruption is likely to take place at any minute, resulting, possibly, in loss of life and a shower of shame and sorrow in more than one family. I further know that the individual I refer to will read this article, and that he will know that I mean him as the person dangerously near the deadly crater. It lies with him to avoid trouble. Will he do it? I don't know. He is a sneak and a coward; but his infatuation is great and may render him reckless respecting the risk he runs. I have given him a chance. He knows me well, and he will do well for himself if he takes this warning and thus avoids the hot punishment he so richly deserves. As far as he is personally concerned, I don't care the toss of a farthing as to any punishment which might be dealt out to him; but I do care very much for those with whom he is connected.

A CHECKER CHAMPION.

The Gentleman Will Play a Few Games With Local Friends.

William Leonard, of Canton, will arrive in the city today and while here will play a number of games of checkers with several of the local champions.

The game has been revived here within the past few weeks and some hotly contested games have been played by Kennedy, Nice and others.

It is said Mr. Leonard has another motive for his visit here, but it is likely the people of East Liverpool will hear more of that later on.

TO YOUNGSTOWN.

A Number of East Liverpool Republicans Will Go There Saturday.

A movement was inaugurated last evening that will in all probability end in a large number of local Republicans going to Youngstown Saturday.

The campaign opens there on that date, and as the Republicans of Youngstown never do anything by halves, it is safe to say the demonstration will be a mammoth one.

Any one desiring to swell the party will leave their names at the office of E. W. Hill, as a special rate will be gotten for the trip.

THE SILVER TRUST.

Year 1896.

The Chicago Chronicle is now an ardent and aggressive advocate of William Jennings Bryan. That paper must have found it profitable to enter into the service and pay of the owners of the Big Bonanzas, the greatest, most powerful and most dictatorial trust within the confines of this nation. The truth appears to be that the owners of the Big Bonanza Silver mines are now the owners and operators of the Chicago Chronicle, as that paper was a great stumbling block for William Jennings Bryan and his owners. Read very carefully what the Windy City sheet said in the year 1896:

On this question of his relations to the Silver Trust the following statement, published July 11, 1896, by his now ardent supporter, the Chicago Chronicle, will be accepted as authoritative:

"The proprietors of the Big Bonanzas have found it profitable to keep a large number of orators, lecturers and other spokesmen on the road. Among the men who have been thus employed and carried on the pay roll of the Big Bonanzas for a number of years is Wm. J. Bryan, of Nebraska. A paid agent of and spokesman for the silver combine, he has not since his retirement from congress had any other visible means of support. The richest men in the world, the proprietors of the Big Bonanzas, hire orators like Bryan exactly as other wealthy men hire fiddlers, and value them about as highly. Silver orators, like fiddlers, come in at the back doors of the Big Bonanzas and eat at the servants' table. Since he holds that relationship to the Big Bonanzas, Wm. J. Bryan's nomination by their order, and as a result of the free use of their money, becomes an insult to the American people of no small proportions."

A COMMON ERROR.

The Same Mistake is Made by Many
People.

It's a common error.

To plaster the aching back.

To rub with liniment rheumatic joints.

When the trouble comes from the kidneys.

And are endorsed by East Liverpool citizens.

Mr. Henry Bevington, who resides at the corner of Avondale and Broadway avenue, says: "During three years I had attacks of dull, steady aching in the back. When stooping or sitting for some time it would change to a quick pang as I arose to an upright position. My back tired out easily when walking or standing long, and I often had headaches, dizziness and in the morning great depression. I took medicines, many of them, but found Doan's Kidney Pills, sold at the W. & W. pharmacy, to be more suitable for my complaint than anything I ever tried."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Fatherless.

There's something about the little black dress that touches a man in a very tender spot. He pats the little one on the head, puts some pennies in her hand, swallows hard and then—starts out to make his own children fatherless. There is no doubt that many a man is taken from his family by neglect of simple precautions which would preserve his health. Disease generally begins nowadays in "stomach trouble" because the meals are hasty and the food not digested. From that beginning come disorders of the blood, liver, kidneys, heart or nerves. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition will avert the catastrophe of more serious disease. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, nourishes the nerves, and builds men up in both brain and body.

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Discovery" where a laxative is required.

VERDICT FOR THE PLAINTIFF

In the Case of Frank McCoy Versus
Ed. Cook In McCarron's
Court

$2.67 THE AMOUNT INVOLVED

Tried to a Jury and as Much Importance Attached as Though
$1,000 Was at Stake.

VERDICT QUICKLY RETURNED

The case of Frank McCoy versus
Ed Cook was tried to a jury in Justice McCarron's court last night.

Plaintiff asked judgment in the sum of $2 67, a balance due as wages, and the jury, which was composed of
Messrs. R. B. Watson, John W. Hall,
George Adam, Frank Allen, Charles
McPherson and M. E. Miskall, were some time in getting together, but finally at 8 o'clock the case was begun.

Attorney H. E. Grosshans appeared for plaintiff and W. S. Cook represented his father. Plaintiff testified in his own behalf and was the only witness presented on that side. He was somewhat embarrassed and told his story in a jerky way, but managed to get through with it in fairly good shape. He had worked for the Cooks early in August and at that time received $1 75 a day. At that time he worked four days and was laid off for about two weeks. At the end of that time he was given employment again, and it was on this occasion that the dispute arose.

When McCoy received his pay on this occasion he found that he had been paid at the rate of but $1 50 per day. He had never had an understanding as to the wages he was to receive, but supposed there would be no difference in the pay from that received on the occasion of his first employment by the firm.

The plaintiff complained that his pay was not right, and was told to come to Cook's house and have it fixed up. He did this and made two visits to the Cook residence, but got no satisfaction and entered suit.

Ed Cook, Ed Johnson (colored),
William Gaven and Bill Kell were sworn for the defense and all testified along the line of wages paid for the different classes of work, showing that scarcely two men engaged at common labor received the same pay.

The defense also showed by their witnesses that their pay day was every two weeks and that the employes
of the firm received pay up till Friday night of the week upon which pay day occurred.

McCoy had been wheeling brick the first time he had been working for the Cooks, and upon the second occasion he had performed labor of a common character, hence the difference in the pay.

The case was given to the jury at 8:50 and at 9:50 a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff.

THEN AND NOW.

Adlai Stevenson, Bryan's Running
Mate, Declared for Sound
And Honest Money.

When Adlai Stevenson, Bryan's running mate, was on the presidential ticket with Grover Cleveland he was a sound money man.

So far he has not presented to the public any reasons for a change to the free and unlimited coinage of silver,
and a grave suspicion is being aroused
that he is playing a confidence game

on the confiding Populists and free
silver Republicans.

Here is what he said in his letter
of acceptance of the vice presidential nomination eight years ago:

"To the plain and unequivocal declaration of the convention in favor of sound, honest money I subscribe without reservation or qualification. A safe circulating medium is absolutely essential to the protection of the business interests of our country, while to the wage earner or to the farmer
it is all-important that every dollar,
whatever its form, that finds its way
into his pocket shall be of equal, unquestioned and universally exchange-able value and of equal purchasing power."

Via Pennsylvania Lines, Account the Exposition.

The dates on which excursion tickets to Pittsburgh will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines this year, account the Exposition are as follows: Thursdays, September, 6, 13, 20 and 27, and October 4, 11 and 18. The rate will be single fare for round trip, plus 25 cents to cover admission coupon to the Exposition.

Excursion tickets will be sold at that rate from Dennison, Ohio; Cadiz,
Ohio; Chester, W. Va.; Wheeling, W.
Va.; Washington, Pa. and intermediate ticket stations on the Southwest system; and from Massillon, O.; Ash-
tabula, O.; Erie, Pa.; Stoneboro, Pa.;
New Philadelphia, O.; Powhatan, O.,
and intermediate ticket stations on the Northwest system. Excursion
tickets, including admission to the Exposition, will not be sold for less than 75 cents.

The return limit on all tickets will be three days, including date of sale.

The Pittsburgh Exposition will be greater and grander this season than ever before. The popular features of former years will be retained, and
many new ones will be added, including A Day in the Alps; Jim Key, the marvelous Educated Horse; A Crystal
Maze; A Mexican Village; special exhibits of the products of the entire world from the Philadelphia Commercial Museum.

Music will be furnished by the world's leading musical organizations.
The famous Banda Rossa, Italy's greatest musical organization, will appear at the Exposition Sept. 5 to 15; Emil Paur, with the New York
Metropolitan Opera House orchestra, will be here Sept. 17 to 22; Dam-
rosch's New York Symphony orchestra of 50 pieces will be the musical attraction Oct. 1 to Oct. 13; Sousa and his great band, direct from triumphs in Europe, will fill two engagements at the Expo., the first from Sept. 24 to Sept. 29 and the second from Oct. 15 to Oct. 20, closing the Exposition on the latter date.

Information concerning tickets,
rates, time of trains, etc., will be furnished upon application to Pennsylvania Line ticket agents in territory
mentioned.

BUCKEYE VOTERS.

Every Voter in Ohio Should Refer Back to Bryan's Statements
in 1896.

It is something of a puzzle to understand how any sensible honest
Ohio citizen can conscientiously support Bryan this year when his speeches of four years ago are compared with his present utterances. The parallel is deadly, and a study of his statements made in 1896 show quite clearly that they were made for the then present effect; that he hoped and
expected to be elected on them and had no idea of being called upon four years later to explain them. In other words, they were made for the sake of expediency.

The outlook is that Mr. Bryan will find that the masses read, closely and attentively, and that his past record
and sayings have been weighed in the balance of justice and right, and found

Credo—Confido.

It is the fashion with many to despise creeds as illiberal and a mark of narrowness in mind and spirit in those who hold to them. It seems so much broader and more cultured to refuse all such restrictions to thought. But there is a deal of arrant conceit and nonsense under it all. These professions of liberality cover quite frequently the utmost bigotry and lack of liberality.

All thinking persons must have some opinions and beliefs on the great basal truths of religion. They view God in some manner and hold some ideas of Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, the nature of the human soul, its capacities, duties and destiny, the nature and mission of the church and the Bible.

It resolves itself into this—whether it is nobler, more reasonable and helpful
to say, "I don't believe this, that and the other," which men have for ages,
after deepest search and severest testing, found to stand the test of adequacy, or to recognize such facts as rational and worthy to be used as a working basis of daily life and to say,
"I believe—Credo."

Incredulity never led to strong, sustained and noble effort. "I believe and I confide in Jesus Christ" has been the keynote of all heroic endeavor for ages. Confidence in God and the ascertained facts of religious consciousness
are marks of greater breadth and depth
in culture than all the popular doubts
of erratic though brilliant discreditors
of creeds.

Find some solid rock for your foundation. If it is not on the surface, then dig for it, but find it. No life can be reared substantially on the sand of
"I don't know." Bedrock of "I believe,
I confide," alone can give firm basis
for life work.

The Luxury of Life.

It does not consist in the abundance of things which surround one. Elegance in architecture and finishings
does not constitute a home. Richness and abundance of viands cannot make a feast. Companionship is the essential element, without which life loses its attractiveness. Persons and not things make existence desirable. The luxury of life is love. With it all material
things assume significance and worth,
as they bear the impress of personality, speaking through them to our inner thought and feeling. Friends and

VERDICT FOR THE PLAINTIFF

In the Case of Frank McCoy Versus
Ed. Cook In McCarron's
Court

$2.67 THE AMOUNT INVOLVED

Tried to a Jury and as Much Importance Attached as Though

VERDICT QUICKLY RETURNED

The case of Frank McCoy versus
Ed Cook was tried to a jury in Justice McCarron's court last night.

Plaintiff asked judgment in the sum
of $2 67, a balance due as wages, and
the jury, which was composed of
Messrs. R. B. Watson, John W. Hall,
George Adam, Frank Allen, Charles
McPherson and M. E. Miskall, were
some time in getting together, but finally at 8 o'clock the case was begun.

Attorney H. E. Grosshans appeared for plaintiff and W. S. Cook represented his father. Plaintiff testified in his own behalf and was the only witness presented on that side. He was somewhat embarrassed and told his
story in a jerky way, but managed to get through with it in fairly good shape. He had worked for the Cooks
early in August and at that time received $1 75 a day. At that time he worked four days and was laid off
for about two weeks. At the end of
that time he was given employment
again, and it was on this occasion that
the dispute arose.

When McCoy received his pay on
been paid at the rate of but $1 50 per day. He had never had an understanding as to the wages he was to receive, but supposed there would be no difference in the pay from that
received on the occasion of his first
employment by the firm.

The plaintiff complained that his
pay was not right, and was told to come to Cook's house and have it
fixed up. He did this and made two visits to the Cook residence, but got
no satisfaction and entered suit.

Ed Cook, Ed Johnson (colored),
William Gaven and Bill Kell were
sworn for the defense and all testified along the line of wages paid for
the different classes of work, showing that scarcely two men engaged at common labor received the same
pay.

The defense also showed by their witnesses that their pay day was every two weeks and that the employes
of the firm received pay up till Friday night of the week upon which
pay day occurred.

McCoy had been wheeling brick the first time he had been working for
the Cooks, and upon the second occasion he had performed labor of a common character, hence the difference
in the pay.

The case was given to the jury at 8:50 and at 9:50 a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff.

THEN AND NOW.

Adlai Stevenson, Bryan's Running
Mate, Declared for Sound
And Honest Money.

When Adlai Stevenson, Bryan's running mate, was on the presidential ticket with Grover Cleveland he was
a sound money man.

So far he has not presented to the public any reasons for a change to the
free and unlimited coinage of silver,
and a grave suspicion is being aroused
that he is playing a confidence game

on the confiding Populists and free
silver Republicans.

Here is what he said in his letter
of acceptance of the vice presidential nomination eight years ago:

"To the plain and unequivocal declaration of the convention in favor of sound, honest money I subscribe without reservation or qualification. A safe circulating medium is absolutely essential to the protection of the business interests of our country, while
to the wage earner or to the farmer
it is all-important that every dollar,
whatever its form, that finds its way
into his pocket shall be of equal, unquestioned and universally exchange-able value and of equal purchasing
power."

Via Pennsylvania Lines, Account the Exposition.

The dates on which excursion tickets to Pittsburg will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines this year, account the Exposition are as follows: Thursdays, September, 6, 13, 20 and 27, and October 4, 11 and 18. The rate will be single fare for round trip, plus 25 cents to cover admission coupon to
the Exposition.

Excursion tickets will be sold at that
rate from Dennison, Ohio; Cadiz,
Ohio; Chester, W. Va.; Wheeling, W.
Va.; Washington, Pa. and intermediate ticket stations on the Southwest
system; and from Massillon, O.; Ash-
tabula, O.; Erie, Pa.; Stoneboro, Pa.;
New Philadelphia, O.; Powhatan, O.,
and intermediate ticket stations on
the Northwest system. Excursion
tickets, including admission to the Exposition, will not be sold for less than 75 cents.

The return limit on all tickets will

The Pittsburg Exposition will be greater and grander this season than ever before. The popular features of former years will be retained, and
ing A Day in the Alps; Jim Key, the marvelous Educated Horse; A Crystal
Maze; A Mexican Village; special exhibits of the products of the entire world from the Philadelphia Commercial Museum.

Musical will be furnished by the world's leading musical organizations.
The famous Banda Rossa, Italy's greatest musical organization, will appear at the Exposition Sept. 5 to 15; Emil Paur, with the New York
Metropolitan Opera House orchestra,
will be here Sept. 17 to 22; Dam-
rosch's New York Symphony orchestra of 50 pieces will be the musical
and his great band, direct from triumphs in Europe, will fill two engagements at the Expo., the first
from Sept. 24 to Sept. 29 and the second from Oct. 15 to Oct 20, closing the Exposition on the latter date.

Information concerning tickets,
rates, time of trains, etc., will be furnished upon application to Pennsylvania Line ticket agents in territory
mentioned.

BUCKEYE VOTERS.

Every Voter in Ohio Should Refer
Back to Bryan's Statements
in 1896.

It is something of a puzzle to understand how any sensible honest
Ohio citizen can conscientiously support Bryan this year when his speeches of four years ago are compared with his present utterances. The parallel is deadly, and a study of his statements made in 1896 show quite clearly that they were made for the
expected to be elected on them and
had no idea of being called upon four years later to explain them. In other words, they were made for the sake
of expediency.

The outlook is that Mr. Bryan will find that the masses read, closely and attentively, and that his past record
and sayings have been weighed in the balance of justice and right, and found
to be utterly lacking.

Credo—Confido.

It is the fashion with many to despise creeds as illiberal and a mark of narrowness in mind and spirit in those who hold to them. It seems so much broader and more cultured to refuse all such restrictions to thought. But there is a deal of arrant conceit and nonsense under it all. These professions
of liberality cover quite frequently the
utmost bigotry and lack of liberality.

All thinking persons must have some
opinions and beliefs on the great basal
truths of religion. They view God in some manner and hold some ideas of Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, the nature of the human soul, its capacities,
duties and destiny, the nature and mission of the church and the Bible.

It resolves itself into this—whether it
is nobler, more reasonable and helpful
to say, "I don't believe this, that and
the other," which men have for ages,
after deepest search and severest testing, found to stand the test of adequacy, or to recognize such facts as rational and worthy to be used as a working basis of daily life and to say,
"I believe—Credo."

Incredulity never led to strong, sustained and noble effort. "I believe and I confide in Jesus Christ" has been the
keynote of all heroic endeavor for ages. Confidence in God and the ascertained facts of religious consciousness
are marks of greater breadth and depth
in culture than all the popular doubts
of erratic though brilliant discreditors
of creeds.

Find some solid rock for your foundation. If it is not on the surface, then dig for it, but find it. No life can be reared substantially on the sand of
I confide," alone can give firm basis
for life work.

The Luxury of Life.

It does not consist in the abundance
of things which surround one. Elegance in architecture and finishings
does not constitute a home. Richness
and abundance of viands cannot make
a feast. Companionship is the essential element, without which life loses its attractiveness. Persons and not things
make existence desirable. The luxury
of life is love. With it all material
things assume significance and worth,
as they bear the impress of personality, speaking through them to our inner thought and feeling. Friends and
friendship make up our future good.

onal and worthy to be used as a working basis of daily life and to say,
"I believe—Credo."

Incredulity never led to strong, sustained and noble effort. "I believe and I confide in Jesus Christ" has been the
keynote of all heroic endeavor for ages. Confidence in God and the ascertained facts of religious consciousness
are marks of greater breadth and depth
in culture than all the popular doubts
of erratic though brilliant discreditors
of creeds.

Find some solid rock for your foundation. If it is not on the surface, then dig for it, but find it. No life can be reared substantially on the sand of
for life work.

The Luxury of Life.

It does not consist in the abundance
of things which surround one. Elegance in architecture and finishings
does not constitute a home. Richness
and abundance of viands cannot make
a feast. Companionship is the essential element, without which life loses its attractiveness. Persons and not things
make existence desirable. The luxury
of life is love. With it all material
things assume significance and worth,
as they bear the impress of personality, speaking through them to our inner thought and feeling. Friends and

HOME INDUSTRY.

If you desire that the city in which you live and labor shall flourish, demonstrate your desire in a practical, common sense manner, by patronizing home industries.

ARE YOU?

Are you reasonably prosperous? Are you well clothed and bountifully fed? If so, then remember the hungry and starving men, women and children in India, and spare a little of your plenty. If you are composed of the stuff of which genuine manhood and womanhood is formed, you will have rich reward.

LABOR DAY.

Look at this clipping from the Pittsburg Dispatch, under date of September 4. Draw your own conclusions and apply your own ideas:

"Why should not the saloons close on Labor day as well as the other mercantile establishments?"

VERMONT.

Vermont Republicans stand in favor of the prohibitory law. Vermont Democrats stand in favor of the repeal of the prohibitory law. Of a truth, Republicanism must have a strong place in the very center of the hearts of the citizens of Vermont.

SCHURZ CALLED DOWN.

Secretary Gage makes Carl Schurz look very small in his reply to that noted "flopper" in the political arena, using Schurz's own words of 1896 to chastise him with. Schurz then said of Bryan:

"The mere apprehension of a possibility of Mr. Bryan's election, and of the consequent placing of our country upon a silver basis, has already caused untold millions of our securities to be thrown upon the market."

Schurz certainly acts as if he were now on the pay roll of the silver kings.

BRYAN'S TRAVELS.

Bryan will learn much that will interest him as he canvasses the land on his present political tour. If he is an honest man, he will mentally admit that this country is in a wonderfully prosperous condition, under a Republican administration and under the blessing of a protective tariff, evolved and introduced and had enacted into law by one William McKinley, soldier, statesman and president of the United States, sure to succeed himself in his present berth in case he remains on duty on this earth, by and through the ballots of a well pleased and prosperous people.

OUR CURRENCY.

The gold standard of the Republican party has made this great nation prosperous. We have the respect and confidence of the financial world. The outlook is for four years more of prosperity under Republican rule. Why should any sane human being, business, professional or workingman, desire to change the solid fact and reality of prosperity, based on a sound currency, worth one hundred cents on the dollar in any market in the civilized world, for a plausible theory, based on wind, with the possibility of a currency commanding 50 cents on the dollar in this country, and next to worthless in the financial centers of foreign nations?

WHOSE OX.

Whose ox was gored at the Kansas City Democratic convention? That body declared "an increasing warfare in nation, state and city against private monopoly in every form." Funny and laughable, is it not, when you take into consideration the fact that Augustus Van Wyck, the New York member of the platform committee, and supposed to be the party who wrote the peculiar platform article, is one of the largest stockholders in the Tammany Ice Trust of New York, which the leading Democratic newspapers of New York city recently described as "a conspiracy to coin fever and thirst into dividends." This trust was organized by leading Democratic politicians. The monopoly had been an outrageous one; but the stockholders determined to still further bleed the consumers of this article absolutely necessary to the comfort of hundreds of thousands of thirsty citizens. Ice was advanced from $1 to $1 50 per ton in delivery wagons, to $3 and $4 a ton to wholesale customers, and 60 cents per hundred pounds, or at the rate of $12 a ton (double the price of coal) to small consumers. At the same time this cormorant monopoly declared that no sales of ice in "five cent pieces" would be permitted, thus virtually depriving the poor, unable to purchase in greater quantities, of this luxury of luxuries in the hot and sultry season. Public opinion, however, always a mighty power when fully aroused, threatened the robber gang, and they were forced to recede from this last outrage, but insulted the poorer classes by compelling them to admit that they were not able to purchase more than five cents' worth of ice at a time. And this same mean and contemptible Democratic monopoly forced New Yorkers to pay these exorbitant prices, while ice was furnished to consumers at Savannah, Georgia, at the rate of five cents per 50 pounds. The stockholders in this monopoly are Democratic politicians, from Mayor Van Wyck and Boss Dick Croker, along the line of Democratic judges, park commissioners, dock commissioners, delegates and committeemen to the Kansas City convention, and a lot of lesser fry, Democrats all. Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel. The cry of "trusts" is surely a great "frost" on the part of the Democracy.

CONFERENCE HELD.

Pittsburg Capitalists After Salem
Electric Railway—Sebring
Route Inspected.

Salem Herald.

H. W. Klein, S. G. Pauline and Simon Harold, the parties who allege that the Alliance, Sebring & Salem electric railway will now be constructed, were in the city last evening conferring with D. L. Davis, superintendent of the Salem Electric company.

Just what the object of the conference was is not plain, as the gentlemen themselves refused to talk, and Mr. Davis left last evening for Ithaca, N. Y., hence could not be interviewed. However, it is had on good authority that the object of the conference was the securing of another option on the local road with determined purpose to purchase the same together with the light plant and power house. Before leaving for Pittsburg last evening, Mr. Klein stated to a Herald representative that he had secured what he was after.

Simon Harold, the contractor who will construct the road, was in the city over night and today drove over the proposed route between this city and Alliance. While in this city yesterday the promoters stated positively that the road would be constructed and that work would commence in a few days.

MAKES US SMILE.

And the Workingmen of the Nation
Will Smile on McKinley as President.

"Vote for Bryan and save the nation," says the esteemed Cincinnati Enquirer. Yes, save the nation from a continuance of unparalleled prosperity, with smoking factories, busy laborers, higher wages, better farm prices and ample government revenues; and, for gracious' sake, give us back the good old Democratic times of '96, with a million or two men out of employment or working half time, low farm prices, an empty government treasury and a monthly deficit. Unquestionably the Enquirer and its kind "view with alarm" the prospective four years more of Republican prosperity.

Why should any sane human being, business, professional or workingman, desire to change the solid fact and reality of prosperity, based on a sound currency, worth one hundred cents on the dollar in any market in the civilized world, for a plausible theory, based on wind, with the possibility of a currency commanding 50 cents on the dollar in this country, and next to worthless in the financial centers of foreign nations?

WHOSE OX.

Whose ox was gored at the Kansas City Democratic convention? That body declared "an increasing warfare in nation, state and city against private monopoly in every form." Funny and laughable, is it not, when you take into consideration the fact that Augustus Van Wyck, the New York member of the platform committee, and supposed to be the party who wrote the peculiar platform article, is one of the largest stockholders in the Tammany Ice Trust of New York, which the leading Democratic newspapers of New York city recently described as "a conspiracy to coin fever and thirst into dividends." This trust was organized by leading Democratic politicians. The monopoly had been an outrageous one; but the stockholders determined to still further bleed the consumers of this article absolutely necessary to the comfort of hundreds of thousands of thirsty citizens. Ice was advanced from $1 to $1 50 per ton in delivery wagons, to $3 and $4 a ton to wholesale customers, and 60 cents per hundred pounds, or at the rate of $12 a ton (double the price of coal) to small consumers. At the same time this cormorant monopoly declared that no sales of ice in "five cent pieces" would be permitted, thus virtually depriving the poor, unable to purchase in greater quantities, of this luxury of luxuries in the hot and sultry season. Public opinion, however, always a mighty power when fully aroused, threatened the robber gang, and they were forced to recede from this last outrage, but insulted the poorer classes by compelling them to admit that they were not able to purchase more than five cents' worth of ice at a time. And this same mean and contemptible Democratic monopoly forced New Yorkers to pay these exorbitant prices, while ice was furnished to consumers at Savannah, Georgia, at the rate of five cents per 50 pounds. The stockholders in this monopoly are Democratic politicians, from Mayor Van Wyck and Boss Dick Croker, along the line of Democratic judges, park commissioners, dock commissioners, delegates and committeemen to the Kansas City convention, and a lot of lesser fry, Democrats all. Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel. The cry of "trusts" is surely a great "frost" on the part of the Democracy.

CONFERENCE HELD.

Pittsburg Capitalists After Salem
Electric Railway—Sebring
Route Inspected.

Salem Herald.

H. W. Klein, S. G. Pauline and Simon Harold, the parties who allege that the Alliance, Sebring & Salem electric railway will now be constructed, were in the city last evening conferring with D. L. Davis, superintendent of the Salem Electric company.

Just what the object of the conference was is not plain, as the gentlemen themselves refused to talk, and Mr. Davis left last evening for Ithaca, N. Y., hence could not be interviewed.

However, it is had on good authority that the object of the conference was the securing of another option on the local road with determined purpose to purchase the same together with the light plant and power house.

Before leaving for Pittsburg last evening, Mr. Klein stated to a Herald representative that he had secured what he was after.

Simon Harold, the contractor who will construct the road, was in the city over night and today drove over the proposed route between this city and Alliance. While in this city yesterday the promoters stated positively that the road would be constructed and that work would commence in a few days.

MAKES US SMILE.

And the Workingmen of the Nation
President.

"Vote for Bryan and save the nation," says the esteemed Cincinnati Enquirer. Yes, save the nation from a continuance of unparalleled prosperity, with smoking factories, busy laborers, higher wages, better farm prices and ample government revenues; and, for gracious' sake, give us back the good old Democratic times of '96, with a million or two men out of employment or working half time, low farm prices, an empty government treasury and a monthly deficit. Unquestionably the Enquirer and its kind "view with alarm" the prospective four years more of Republican prosperity.

ARE YOU?
 Are you reasonably prosperous? Are you well clothed and bountifully fed? If so, then remember the hungry and starving men, women and children in India, and spare a little of your plenty. If you are composed of the stuff of which genuine manhood and womanhood is formed, you will have rich reward.

LABOR DAY.
 Look at this clipping from the Pittsburg Dispatch, under date of September 4. Draw your own conclusions and apply your own ideas:
 "Why should not the saloons close on Labor day as well as the other mercantile establishments?"

VERMONT.
 Vermont Republicans stand in favor of the prohibitory law. Vermont Democrats stand in favor of the repeal of the prohibitory law. Of a truth, Republicanism must have a strong place in the very center of the hearts of the citizens of Vermont.

SCHURZ CALLED DOWN.
 Secretary Gage makes Carl Schurz look very small in his reply to that noted "flopper" in the political arena, using Schurz's own words of 1896 to chastise him with. Schurz then said of Bryan:
 "The mere apprehension of a possibility of Mr. Bryan's election, and of the consequent placing of our country upon a silver basis, has already caused untold millions of our securities to be thrown upon the market."
 Schurz certainly acts as if he were now on the pay roll of the silver kings.

BRYAN'S TRAVELS.
 Bryan will learn much that will interest him as he canvasses the land on his present political tour. If he is an honest man, he will mentally admit that this country is in a wonderfully prosperous condition, under a Republican administration and under the blessing of a protective tariff, evolved and introduced and had enacted into law by one William McKinley, soldier, statesman and president of the United States, sure to succeed himself in his present berth in case he remains on duty on this earth, by and through the ballots of a well pleased and prosperous people.

OUR CURRENCY.
 The gold standard of the Republican party has made this great nation prosperous. We have the respect and confidence of the financial world. The outlook is for four years more of prosperity under Republican rule. Why should any sane human being, business, professional or workingman, desire to change the solid fact and reality of prosperity, based on a sound currency, worth one hundred cents on the dollar in any market in the civilized world, for a plausible theory, based on wind, with the possibility of a currency commanding 50 cents on the dollar in this country, and next to worthless in the financial centers of foreign nations?

PAT MOONEY IN DURANCE VILE

He Was Run In by Officer Dawson and Is Still In Jail.

DETECTIVE SCHIFFLER IN TOWN

He In Company With the Local Authorities Will Watch the Horn Switch.

WANTED TO BE ARRESTED

One solitary unfortunate was gathered in last night and the credit belongs to Officer Dawson.

Pat Mooney is charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was too drunk for a hearing this morning and the mayor will attend to his case this evening.

Mayor Davidson met a colored man in the vicinity of the Diamond at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon who begged to be taken to jail. He went to city hall with the mayor, and upon arriving there questioned the chief executive as to the best and quickest way to get to the workhouse. He wanted to commit some sort of crime in order that he might be sent to the works.

It seems that the fellow had been drinking heavily and was run down, scarcely knowing what he said or did. He was allowed to take up his quarters in the jail proper and remained there for a short time, but finally got over into the ladies' quarters, where he laid down and took a sleep.

This morning he had partially recovered from the effects of his spree and was turned loose.

Detective Nick Schiffler was in town today, and in conjunction with the local police department have determined to put a stop to the depredations along the Horn switch in the vicinity of East and West Market streets. There is a crowd of about 25 or 30 loafers who make this their regular stamping ground, and the residents of that section of the city are annoyed almost beyond endurance.

The authorities say if people who have cars standing on the switch at that point would lock the cars on Saturday nights especially, there would be less annoyance and an effort will be made to bring this about.

A NEW SONG

Has Been Issued by Local Parties and Dedicated to a Liverpool Party.

Another new song has just been issued by E. B. Orr, of this city. The music was arranged by J. M. Orr, who has become one of the foremost authors.

The name of the new publication is "He Loved Her, Yet He Never Told Her So." The piece is very pretty and will undoubtedly have a large circulation.

The song is dedicated to Reese Prosser, and upon the title page contains an excellent likeness of Miss Myrtle Headley, a well known young lady of this city.

EAST END.

Two Weddings.

East End has just had two weddings. Mason Reed and Miss Emma Anderson, both residents of East End, were quietly married last night at the bride's home on High street. Squire Rose united them in the bonds of matrimony. After the ceremony some of the friends of the young couple gave them a very delightful serenade. They have gone to housekeeping on High street.

Samuel Russell and Miss Mary Coburn, of St. Clair township, were married by Rev. Orcutt, of the Second M. E. church, at his home on Fourth street. The bride is well known in East Liverpool and in East End, being the daughter of Dr. Coburn, who resided both in the city and East End for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Russell have gone to their future home in St. Clair township.

The parties were married by Justice J. N. Rose at his residence at 8:30 last evening.

Important Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Second Presbyterian church had a business meeting last night, and elected officers. The officers elected were as follows:

They also appointed the chairmen of their committees as follows:

Prayer meeting, James Noah; lookout, Ethel McCain; social, Alice Allabaugh; calling, Miss Lizzie Beal; missionary, Miss Francis Moore; music, Rev. Crowe; flowers, Mrs. Young.

They will have another meeting Friday to complete the committees and make arrangements for the convention.

Returned Home.

Mesdames Swartz and Sax, of Wheeling, who were the guests of Mrs. King, of Ohio avenue, have returned to their homes.

Clark is Better.

McKinley Clark, the man who had his feet scalded at the car barns some time ago, has returned to his home in Bolivar, as the doctor says he will be disabled for some time yet.

Another Stray Animal.

Returned to Bellaire.

Tom Dawson and family, of Bellaire, who have been visiting at the home of Frank Allabaugh, have returned to their home.

Not Yet Completed.

SOUTH SIDE.

That Southside Fight.

The case of Eugene Campbell versus Mrs. Frank and her daughter Carrie was heard yesterday before Justice Johnson, of Chester.

The plaintiff claimed that the only reason he could assign for the action of the Franks was the fact that he had remarked on the quality of some of the food which had been provided for supper. He displayed the wound in the head and thought he had made a mistake in placing the charge, as he should have accused them of assault with intent to kill.

The Franks on the other hand allege they were grossly insulted by Campbell and were perfectly justified in acting as they did.

The justice came to the conclusion when the evidence was all in that the parties were about equally guilty and so found.

Campbell was fined $7, Mrs. Frank $6 and her daughter $5. The citizens of Chester are endeavoring to raise by popular subscription an amount sufficient to pay the fines of the women.

A Failure.

The Atlantic City Electric Light company have put in lighting apparatus in Rock Springs pavilion and cafe. Last night the power was turned on and did beautifully for about an hour, when the power gave out and there was no more dancing for that evening. It has been fixed all right since, however.

Paving Completed.

Main street is paved all the way between the two potteries, and the street gang are terracing in front of the new houses which will soon be completed.

Completed Today.

The new reservoir is finished. It is to hold two million gallons of water. Workmen are doing the concreting at the pump house, which will soon be completed.

First-Class Hostelry.

The new hotel is being fitted up with two car loads of new furniture, and will be ready for occupancy in about a week.

Personals.

About two hundred people from Bowerstown are enjoying the day at Rock Springs.

Miss Catherine Baird, of Steubenville, who has been visiting in Chester, drove home yesterday accompanied by her friend, Miss Clara Stewart.

Harold Mason, who used to be in the shoe business in East Liverpool, is in Chester. He is traveling for an eastern shoe house and makes his home in Columbus.

A DEAL.

In Real Estate Was Made Saturday Which May Mean a Great Deal.

M. E. Golding last Saturday purchased from Geo. H. Owen & Co. a portion of the old Croxall lot, situated at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets.

The land is in the rear of the Pottery National bank building, faces on Fifth street and is 20x30 feet.

Mr. Golding would not say what the land would be used for; consideration $2,000.

There are several rumors as to the disposition to be made of the new purchase, and it may mean nothing and it may mean a great deal.

A Cruel Joke.

A Yale Summit girl recently played a cruel joke on her mother, and this is how it happened: She accidentally found a love letter that her father had written to her mother in the halcyon days of their courtship. She read the letter to her mother, substituting her own name and that of her lover. The mother raved with anger and stamped her foot in disgust, forbidding her daughter to have anything to do with a man who would write such nonsensical stuff to a girl. The girl then gave the letter to her mother to read, and the house became so suddenly quiet that she could hear the cat winking in the back yard.—Salisbury Press.

—Mrs. John Brindley left this morning for Cincinnati, where she will spend six weeks.

Napoleon and the Roman Law.

Napoleon I had an extraordinary mind. He appeared never to forget anything he cared to remember and assimilated information as the stomach assimilates food, retaining only the valuable. An incident will illustrate this remarkable quality of his mind.

When forming the "Code Napoleon," he frequently astonished the council of state by the skill with which he illustrated a point in discussion by quoting whose passages from memory of the Roman civil law. The council wondered how a man whose life had been passed in camp came to know so much about the old Roman laws. Finally one of them asked him how he acquired his knowledge.

"When I was a lieutenant," Napoleon replied, "I was unjustly placed under arrest. My small prison room contained no furniture except an old chair and a cupboard. In the latter was a ponderous volume, which proved to be a digest of the Roman law. You can easily imagine what a valuable prize the book was to me. It was so bulky and the leaves were so covered with marginal notes in manuscript that had I been confined 100 years I need never have been idle. When I recovered my liberty at the end of ten days, I was saturated with Justinian and the decisions of the Roman legislation. It was then I acquired my knowledge of the civil law."

An Impudent Fraud.

An impudent fraud was perpetrated upon a Manchester bank by one of its customers, who opened an account with some few hundreds of pounds. The man, after a few weeks, drew two checks, each within a pound or so of his balance, and, selecting a busy day, presented himself at one end of the counter, while an accomplice, when he saw that his friend's check had been cashed, immediately presented his own to a cashier at the other end. Both cashiers referred the checks to the ledger clerk, who, thinking the same cashier had asked him twice, said "right" to both checks. The thieves were never caught.

Huge Slice Out of Clerks' Salaries.

PAT MOONEY IN DURANCE VILE

He Was Run In by Officer Dawson and Is Still In Jail.

DETECTIVE SCHIFFLER IN TOWN

He In Company With the Local Authorities Will Watch the Horn Switch.

WANTED TO BE ARRESTED

One solitary unfortunate was gathered in last night and the credit belongs to Officer Dawson.

Pat Mooney is charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was too drunk for a hearing this morning and the mayor will attend to his case this evening.

Mayor Davidson met a colored man in the vicinity of the Diamond at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon who begged to be taken to jail. He went to city hall with the mayor, and upon arriving there questioned the chief executive as to the best and quickest way to get to the workhouse. He wanted to commit some sort of crime in order that he might be sent to the works.

It seems that the fellow had been drinking heavily and was run down, scarcely knowing what he said or did. He was allowed to take up his quarters in the jail proper and remained there for a short time, but finally got over into the ladies' quarters, where he laid down and took a sleep.

This morning he had partially recovered from the effects of his spree and was turned loose.

Detective Nick Schiffler was in town today, and in conjunction with the local police department have determined to put a stop to the depredations along the Horn switch in the vicinity of East and West Market streets. There is a crowd of about 25 or 30 loafers who make this their regular stamping ground, and the residents of that section of the city are annoyed almost beyond endurance.

The authorities say if people who have cars standing on the switch at that point would lock the cars on Saturday nights especially, there would be less annoyance and an effort will be made to bring this about.

A NEW SONG

Two Weddings.

East End has just had two weddings. Mason Reed and Miss Emma Anderson, both residents of East End, were quietly married last night at the bride's home on High street. Squire Rose united them in the bonds of matrimony. After the ceremony some of the friends of the young couple gave them a very delightful serenade. They have gone to housekeeping on High street.

Samuel Russell and Miss Mary Coburn, of St. Clair township, were married by Rev. Orcutt, of the Second M. E. church, at his home on Fourth street. The bride is well known in East Liverpool and in East End, being the daughter of Dr. Coburn, who resided both in the city and East End for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Russell have gone to their future home in St. Clair township.

The parties were married by Justice J. N. Rose at his residence at 8:30 last evening.

Important Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Second Presbyterian church had a business meeting last night, and elected officers. The officers elected were as follows:

They also appointed the chairmen of their committees as follows:

Prayer meeting, James Noah; lookout, Ethel McCain; social, Alice Allabaugh; calling, Miss Lizzie Beal; missionary, Miss Francis Moore; music, Rev. Crowe; flowers, Mrs. Young.

They will have another meeting Friday to complete the committees and make arrangements for the convention.

Returned Home.

Mesdames Swartz and Sax, of Wheeling, who were the guests of Mrs. King, of Ohio avenue, have returned to their homes.

Clark is Better.

McKinley Clark, the man who had his feet scalded at the car barns some time ago, has returned to his home in Bolivar, as the doctor says he will be disabled for some time yet.

Another Stray Animal.

Returned to Bellaire.

Tom Dawson and family, of Bellaire, who have been visiting at the home of Frank Allabaugh, have returned to their home.

Not Yet Completed.

SOUTH SIDE.

That Southside Fight.

The case of Eugene Campbell versus Mrs. Frank and her daughter Carrie was heard yesterday before Justice Johnson, of Chester.

The plaintiff claimed that the only reason he could assign for the action of the Franks was the fact that he had remarked on the quality of some of the food which had been provided for supper. He displayed the wound in the head and thought he had made a mistake in placing the charge, as he should have accused them of assault with intent to kill.

The Franks on the other hand allege they were grossly insulted by Campbell and were perfectly justified in acting as they did.

The justice came to the conclusion when the evidence was all in that the parties were about equally guilty and so found.

Campbell was fined $7, Mrs. Frank $6 and her daughter $5. The citizens of Chester are endeavoring to raise by popular subscription an amount sufficient to pay the fines of the women.

A Failure.

The Atlantic City Electric Light company have put in lighting apparatus in Rock Springs pavilion and cafe. Last night the power was turned on and did beautifully for about an hour, when the power gave out and there was no more dancing for that evening. It has been fixed all right since, however.

Paving Completed.

Main street is paved all the way between the two potteries, and the street gang are terracing in front of the new houses which will soon be completed.

Completed Today.

The new reservoir is finished. It is to hold two million gallons of water. Workmen are doing the concreting at the pump house, which will soon be completed.

First-Class Hostelry.

The new hotel is being fitted up with two car loads of new furniture, and will be ready for occupancy in about a week.

Personals.

About two hundred people from Bowerstown are enjoying the day at Rock Springs.

Miss Catherine Baird, of Steubenville, who has been visiting in Chester, drove home yesterday accompanied by her friend, Miss Clara Stewart.

Harold Mason, who used to be in the shoe business in East Liverpool, is in Chester. He is traveling for an eastern shoe house and makes his home in Columbus.

Napoleon and the Roman Law.

Napoleon I had an extraordinary mind. He appeared never to forget anything he cared to remember and assimilated information as the stomach assimilates food, retaining only the valuable. An incident will illustrate this remarkable quality of his mind.

When forming the "Code Napoleon," he frequently astonished the council of state by the skill with which he illustrated a point in discussion by quoting whose passages from memory of the Roman civil law. The council wondered how a man whose life had been passed in camp came to know so much about the old Roman laws. Finally one of them asked him how he acquired his knowledge.

"When I was a lieutenant," Napoleon replied, "I was unjustly placed under arrest. My small prison room contained no furniture except an old chair and a cupboard. In the latter was a ponderous volume, which proved to be a digest of the Roman law. You can easily imagine what a valuable prize the book was to me. It was so bulky and the leaves were so covered with marginal notes in manuscript that had I been confined 100 years I need never have been idle. When I recovered my liberty at the end of ten days, I was saturated with Justinian and the decisions of the Roman legislation. It was then I acquired my knowledge of the civil law."

An Impudent Fraud.

An impudent fraud was perpetrated upon a Manchester bank by one of its customers, who opened an account with some few hundreds of pounds. The man, after a few weeks, drew two checks, each within a pound or so of his balance, and, selecting a busy day, presented himself at one end of the counter, while an accomplice, when he saw that his friend's check had been cashed, immediately presented his own to a cashier at the other end. Both cashiers referred the checks to the ledger clerk, who, thinking the same cashier had asked him twice, said "right" to both checks. The thieves were never caught.

The council wondered how a man whose life had been passed in camp came to know so much about the old Roman laws. Finally one of them asked him how he acquired his knowledge.

"When I was a lieutenant," Napoleon replied, "I was unjustly placed under arrest. My small prison room contained no furniture except an old chair and a cupboard. In the latter was a ponderous volume, which proved to be a digest of the Roman law. You can easily imagine what a valuable prize the book was to me. It was so bulky and the leaves were so covered with marginal notes in manuscript that had I been confined 100 years I need never have been idle. When I recovered my liberty at the end of ten days, I was saturated with Justinian and the decisions of the Roman legislation. It was then I acquired my knowledge of the civil law."

An Impudent Fraud.

An impudent fraud was perpetrated upon a Manchester bank by one of its customers, who opened an account with some few hundreds of pounds. The man, after a few weeks, drew two checks, each within a pound or so of his balance, and, selecting a busy day, presented himself at one end of the counter, while an accomplice, when he saw that his friend's check had been cashed, immediately presented his own to a cashier at the other end. Both cashiers referred the checks to the ledger clerk, who, thinking the same cashier had asked him twice, said "right" to both checks. The thieves were never caught.

NATIONS WILL AGREE.

Powers Getting Together as to the Future of China.

NEGOTIATIONS STILL INCOMPLETE.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Within the last 24 hours the United States government has received from its representatives at foreign capitals much material information in regard to the attitude of the powers on the Russian proposal to evacuate Peking. These give the general nature of the responses made to Russia by certain of the powers. It is stated authoritatively that if there was at any time a prospect of a serious international clash this has been very largely, if not entirely, removed by the harmonious character of the communications the several governments are making.

The exact nature of the responses is not made public by the state department, for there are yet some replies to be transmitted and until all of them are in negotiations are considered in such an incomplete form that they will not be made public. It is said, however, that the answers go much beyond the tentative character of those heretofore referred to, and are of a conclusive nature, so far as showing the purposes of the governments, although they may not be regarded as conclusive in accepting or rejecting the particular proposition advanced by Russia.

The responses are understood to be rather long and somewhat argumentative, similar in this respect to the American response. This very fact is a cause for congratulation among officials, as they point out that there is no disposition to treat the proposal with terseness or in any manner to give offense, but rather to bring the powers together on a common basis. On the whole, the general tendency of the responses is such as to give entire satisfaction here as to the course of the negotiations.

Negotiations Progressing Satisfactorily.

The satisfactory progress of the negotiations along these lines has had the effect of directing attention to the personality of the envoys who probably will represent the powers and China in the final settlement. The impression prevails here that Mr. Conger is eminently fitted for such a task on the part of the United States, supposing that each of the powers interested in the Chinese problem is to have a separate and individual representative.

Mr. Rockhill's name is mentioned as an alternate in case Mr. Conger does not care to remain in Peking, or to participate in the settlement. These suggestions, however, are all speculative, for up to this time the state department has not conferred the necessary special powers upon any person to represent the government in the final negotiations.

If the present state of affairs in China is protracted until the arrival there of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, which should occur in about ten days or a fortnight, it is not to be doubted that the government of Germany will endeavor to have all the negotiations with the Chinese government conducted through that official as a representative, not of Germany alone, but of all the powers.

A Move For Combined Action

It is gathered that strong arguments will be advanced to support the advisability of combined action through one agency in this manner as the best means of securing a speedy and generally satisfactory termination of the Chinese trouble. In fact, it will be urged that there is little hope for an early adjustment of the differences between the powers and China if each of the powers is to lay down an independent proposition, the cumulative effect of which, particularly in the case of money or territorial indemnities, might be absolutely crushing to the Chinese empire.

If there is any change in the military situation since General Chaffee's dispatch, supposed to be of the 30th ult., no word of it has reached Washington. It is understood that disturbances and outrages upon missionaries continue in some of the districts outside of Peking. It is believed here, possibly because of these reports, that the foreign ministers in Peking probably will enter an earnest objection to any withdrawal of troops if their respective governments delay action upon the Russian proposition until they have had a chance to express their views.

tions, and quite a number of messages have passed between Washington and Berlin. Those persons most likely to have a correct understanding of Germany's attitude look for the suggestion of a compromise, or middle course, which will be neither an acceptance nor a rejection of the Russian proposal, but will be such a satisfactory middle ground that all the powers, including Russia, can agree to it.

LADYBRAND SIEGE RAISED.

Reinforcements Cause Boers to Retire Grobler Negotiating For Surrender.

Cape Town, Sept. 6.—Reports received from Ladybrand, in the Orange Free State, near the Basutoland border, say the Boers who have been besieging the garrison of 150 men for some days are returning. On Monday the 2,000 Boers who surrounded the town used their nine guns all day without result. Tuesday morning the Boers renewed the attack with small arm fire, but later this fire ceased, and the Boers retired, presumably in the face of the arrival of reinforcements.

Pretoria, Sept. 6.—Commandant Grobler, who has been operating with Olivier, the Boer leader recently captured by the British, is negotiating with the British with a view of surrendering his force. He asks for equal treatment for a few of his followers who fought after taking the oath of allegiance to the British.

DEMISE OF ARTHUR SEWALL.

Was Candidate For Vice President In 1896—Large Shipowner.

Bath, Me., Sept. 6.—The Hon. Arthur Sewall died at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday at his summer home, Small Point about 12 miles from this city, of apoplexy, the stroke having been sustained last Sunday.

Mr. Sewall was born in Bath, Me. in 1835. He was one of the largest shipowners in New England states director of several railroads and banks and interested in several other enterprises. He was an ardent Democrat and for several years a member of the national committee of his party. In 1896 Mr. Sewall was on the Democratic ticket as a candidate for vice president.

RETURNS NEARLY ALL IN.

Vermont Shows a Republican Loss and a Democratic Gain.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 6.—Returns from 232 cities and towns out of 246 cities and towns in the state give the vote for governor as follows: Stickney, Rep., 46,934; Senter, Dem., 15,494; all others, 1,268. The same towns in 1896 gave Grout, Rep., 52,029; Jackson, Dem., 14,556; all others, 1,589.

The returns from these towns give a Republican plurality of 31,430 and a majority of 30,172. The Republican loss is 9 per cent and the Democratic gain 15 per cent.

MR. CARNEGIE'S STATEMENT.

He Denounces Recent Reports of Misunderstanding in His Steel Company.

London, Sept. 6.—Andrew Carnegie has sent the following telegram in answer to the reports of friction in the great steel company of which he is the head:

"There is not one particle of truth in reports of friction in the Carnegie company. On the contrary, the company's affairs were never more harmonious in all its history."

What the Census Figures Show.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Officials returns show the population of Akron, O., to be 43,728; gain last ten years of 67.16 per cent. Lancaster, Pa., 41,459; gain, 24.22 per cent. Birmingham, Ala., 38,415; gain, 46.75. Canton, O., 30,067; gain, 17.10 per cent. Dayton, O., 35,333; gain, 39.39 per cent. Albany, N. Y., 94,151; decrease, 81 per cent. Bayonne, N. J., 32,722; gain, 71.92 per cent. Salt Lake City, Utah, 53,531; gain, 19.37 per cent.

Daughter's Testimony Against Father.

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—In the trial of Thomas J. Rohland, for killing his wife, at West Newton, his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Markle, told her story amid tears and sobs. She saw her mother murdered and told of months of family infelicity and threats. She testified also that she once heard her father say to her mother that they would both die together.

President to Attend His Niece's Wedding.

Washington, Sept. 6.—President and Mrs. McKinley will leave here either Monday or Tuesday for Somerset, Pa., to attend the wedding of Miss Mabel McKinley and Dr. Baer. The trip to Somerset will be made by daylight. Immediately after the ceremony they will depart for Canton to remain some days.

No New Cases of Bubonic Plague.

Glasgow, Sept. 6.—No new cases of bubonic plague have been reported.

THE NATIONAL PARTY

Candidates For President and Vice President Nominated.

PLATFORM IS SHORT AND SWEET.

It Declares For Renunciation of Colonial Pretensions, the Single Gold Standard, Public Service Based on Merit, and the Abolition of All Special Privileges.

New York, Sept. 6.—The National party—the official name of the third party—met in convention yesterday in Carnegie hall this city, and nominated candidates for president and vice president of the United States. A platform was adopted and a title and emblem chosen. These are its candidates:

For president, Donaldson Caffrey, of Louisiana.

For vice president, Archibald Murray Howe, of Cambridge, Mass.

There were no other candidates for the positions and the nominations were received with hearty applause. The platform adopted says:

"The citizens of the United States of America, assembled for the purpose of defending the wise and conservative principles which underlie our government, thus declare our aims and purposes:

"We find our country threatened with alternative perils. On the one hand is a public opinion misled by organized forces of commercialism that have perverted a war intended by the people to be a war of humanity into a war of conquest. On the other hand is a public opinion swayed by demagogic appeals to factional and class passions, the most fatal diseases to a republic. We believe that either of these influences, if unchecked, would ultimately compass the downfall of our country, but we also believe that neither represents the sober conviction of our countrymen.

"Convinced that the extension of the jurisdiction of the United States for the purpose of holding foreign people as colonial dependencies is an innovation dangerous to our liberties and repugnant to the principles upon which our government is founded, we pledge our efforts through all constitutional means—

"First—To procure the renunciation of all imperial colonial pretensions with regard to foreign countries claimed to have been acquired through or in consequence of military or naval operations of the last two years.

"Second—We further pledge our efforts to secure a single gold standard and a sound banking system.

"Third—To secure a public service based on merit only.

"Fourth—To secure the abolition of all corrupting special privileges, whether under the guise of subsidies, bounties, undeserved pensions or trust-breeding tariffs."

The convention was called to order by Thomas M. Osborne, of Auburn, N. Y., who presided at the Indianapolis preliminary meeting a month ago. Everett Abbott was secretary. There was no roll call. All the delegates were volunteers who had replied by their presence to the invitation issued to all persons in sympathy with the objects of the party.

Chairman Osborne's speech in calling the meeting to order followed the lines which are expressed in the platform. Speeches were also made by John Jay Chapman and Archibald Murray Howe.

It was decided that the party be known as a national party and that its emblem be the statue of liberty on the capitol dome at Washington.

A resolution was passed instructing the campaign committee, when it shall be appointed, to provide posters for voters who wish to cross out any name on the Democratic or Republican electoral ticket, the poster to have on it the name of some citizen known to stand for "peace, liberty and sound money." This is to be done in any state in which the committee finds such a movement is practical.

Mr. Bryan in the Mountain State.

Deer Park, Md., Sept. 6.—Mr. Bryan addressed two large meetings—one at Morgan's grove, Shepherdstown, W. Va., and at Keyser, W. Va. At both places the crowds greeted the national candidate with enthusiasm and both speeches were vigorously applauded as point after point was made. There were large audiences at both meetings, but that of the grove was exceptional in size.

Ohio Democrats Make a Nomination.

of Canton. The district has been carried but twice by the Democrats in the last quarter of a century.

New York State Republican Ticket.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 6.—B. B. Odell, for governor, and Timothy L. Woodruff, for lieutenant governor, is the Republican state ticket that has been nominated. Ex-Governor Black nominated the former and Chauncey Depew the latter. A complete state ticket was put in the field.

Republicans Open Indiana Campaign.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—Senator Fairbanks opened the Republican campaign here in a long speech at the opera house. Governor Roosevelt, of New York; Senator Burrows, of Michigan; Corporal Tanner, of New York, and other prominent Republicans will soon enter the state.

West Virginia Democrats Nominated.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 6.—The Democratic convention to nominate delegates to the legislature from the district composed of Jefferson, Berkeley and Morgan named Hon. H. S. Cushman, of this city, and Ross M. Fisher, of Berkeley Springs.

Market Irregular—Sugar Slightly Lower—Railroad Stocks Generally Higher.

New York, Sept. 6.—By contrast with the recent dead level of apathy Wednesday's trading in stocks seemed like positive animation. The aggregate of dealings was considerably larger than for some time past, and the total was not made up with an overwhelming preponderance of trading in one or two stocks. Sugar, People's Gas and Brooklyn Transit all continued fairly prominent, but there was a marked increase of interest in railroad stocks and the number of shares of some of the individual railroads dealt in compared favorably with the totals in the speculative favorites among the industrials. There was a peculiar irregularity of movement in the specialties, Sugar, as a rule, moving up, while People's Gas was going down and Sugar reacting as People's Gas recovered. Both stocks were largely dealt in both above and below Tuesday night's level. There was strenuous support in Sugar at the opening, and the 4,000 shares thrown upon the market were taken at prices running from 123 to 122½, compared with 122½ Tuesday night. Friends of the stock were evidently in doubt how the dividend declaration of 1½ per cent for the quarter would be accepted, as the stock was rushed up Tuesday on the supposition that the dividend would be 2 per cent or more. Encouraged by powerful support, the stock was pushed up at one time to 123½, but it turned heavy during the latter part of the day and closed with a net loss of 1½. People's Gas, on the other hand, was weak in the early dealings on continued reports of extreme measures contemplated in the Chicago gas war. The stock touched 91, but rallied 2 points and closed with a net gain of ¾.

There was early strength in some of the iron and steel stocks, but they sagged away in the late dealings, seemingly under the apprehension that today's trade reviews might have something unfavorable to say. The cause of the rise in the railroad stocks was not very clear, but there was a manifest accession of confidence on the part of the bulls. Dealings were largely professional, but there was buying on a large scale in a number of stocks, individual transactions running up to 2,000 shares in some cases.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—An improved export demand was the main support to a dull and generally weak wheat market Wednesday. October closed ¼¢ lower, and yesterday. Corn closed ¼¢ lower, and oats ¼¢ higher. Provision closed a shade to 7½¢ lower.

EVENTS BRIEFLY NARRATED.

Butler county fair is open.

Minnesota Democrats and Populists will fuse.

Pugilist Fitzsimmons, of New York, will make Chicago his home.

Smethport Electric street railway, Smethport, Pa., chartered; capital, $12,000.

John C. Bain has been appointed postmaster at Lawsonham, Clarion county, Pa.

Between 500 and 600 of the McDonald family held a reunion at Alliquippa, below Pittsburgh.

Holbrook Mann, a New Jersey boy, who broke his neck recently, is still alive and reported better.

Scranton Prohibitionists claim President McKinley is "chummy" with big brewers and distillers.

Mrs. Caroline Mavoro, a London, England, barmaid, has recovered $20,000 in a breach of promise suit.

While at play at Greensburg, Pa., Lizzie Sajuli, aged 8, shot Dominic Wionl, aged 6. The boy will die.

An Editor Found Dead in Bed.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 6.—Marion Stuart Cann, aged 41 years, at one time editor of the Birmingham Age Herald, and later city editor of the Louisville Courier Journal, afterward filling similar positions in the Republican and Truth, this city, was found dead in bed by his mother. He died from heart failure.

Ohio Beer Brewers and the War Tax.

Toledo, O., Sept. 6.—The Ohio Association of Brewers is holding its annual session in Toledo. The meeting promises to be one of great importance, as the manufacturers of beer all over Ohio will attempt to devise some way by which they can escape payment of the additional war revenue tax on beer.

A $50,000 Case at Uniontown Non-Suited.

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 6.—The case of Isadore L. Coffman against the Fayette Gas Fuel company has been nonsuited by Judge Umbel. Coffman claimed $50,000 damages for injuries sustained in an explosion at the company's regulator house, alleging that the explosion resulted from leaking gas.

Moderator For C. P. Synod.

Two New Trolley Lines at Canton.

Canton, O., Sept. 6.—Applications have been made to the county commissioners for a franchise over the public highways for the construction and maintenance of electric railways between Canton and Alliance and between Canton and Akron.

Big Money From the Far North.

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—The steamer Urmetilla has arrived from the north, bringing about $1,500,000 in treasure from the Klondike and Douglas island and a few nuggets from Nome. The passengers from Nome all tell stories of hard luck.

NATIONS WILL AGREE.

Powers Getting Together as to the Future of China.

NEGOTIATIONS STILL INCOMPLETE.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Within the last 24 hours the United States government has received from its representatives at foreign capitals much material information in regard to the attitude of the powers on the Russian proposal to evacuate Peking. These give the general nature of the responses made to Russia by certain of the powers. It is stated authoritatively that if there was at any time a prospect of a serious international clash this has been very largely, if not entirely, removed by the harmonious character of the communications the several governments are making.

The exact nature of the responses is not made public by the state department, for there are yet some replies to be transmitted and until all of them are in negotiations are considered in such an incomplete form that they will not be made public. It is said, however, that the answers go much beyond the tentative character of those heretofore referred to, and are of a conclusive nature, so far as showing the purposes of the governments, although they may not be regarded as conclusive in accepting or rejecting the particular proposition advanced by Russia.

The responses are understood to be rather long and somewhat argumentative, similar in this respect to the American response. This very fact is a cause for congratulation among officials, as they point out that there is no disposition to treat the proposal with terseness or in any manner to give offense, but rather to bring the powers together on a common basis. On the whole, the general tendency of the responses is such as to give entire satisfaction here as to the course of the negotiations.

Negotiations Progressing Satisfactorily.

The satisfactory progress of the negotiations along these lines has had the effect of directing attention to the personality of the envoys who probably will represent the powers and China in the final settlement. The impression prevails here that Mr. Conger is eminently fitted for such a task on the part of the United States, supposing that each of the powers interested in the Chinese problem is to have a separate and individual representative.

Mr. Rockhill's name is mentioned as an alternate in case Mr. Conger does not care to remain in Peking, or to participate in the settlement. These suggestions, however, are all speculative, for up to this time the state department has not conferred the necessary special powers upon any person to represent the government in the final negotiations.

If the present state of affairs in China is protracted until the arrival there of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, which should occur in about ten days or a fortnight, it is not to be doubted that the government of Germany will endeavor to have all the negotiations with the Chinese government conducted through that official as a representative, not of Germany alone, but of all the powers.

A Move For Combined Action

It is gathered that strong arguments will be advanced to support the advisability of combined action through one agency in this manner as the best means of securing a speedy and generally satisfactory termination of the Chinese trouble. In fact, it will be urged that there is little hope for an early adjustment of the differences between the powers and China if each of the powers is to lay down an independent proposition, the cumulative effect of which, particularly in the case of money or territorial indemnities, might be absolutely crushing to the Chinese empire.

If there is any change in the military situation since General Chaffee's dispatch, supposed to be of the 30th ult., no word of it has reached Washington. It is understood that disturbances and outrages upon missionaries continue in some of the districts outside of Peking. It is believed here, possibly because of these reports, that the foreign ministers in Peking probably will enter an earnest objection to any withdrawal of troops if their respective governments delay action upon the Russian proposition until they have had a chance to express their views.

tions, and quite a number of messages have passed between Washington and Berlin. Those persons most likely to have a correct understanding of Germany's attitude look for the suggestion of a compromise, or middle course, which will be neither an acceptance nor a rejection of the Russian proposal, but will be such a satisfactory middle ground that all the powers, including Russia, can agree to it.

LADYBRAND SIEGE RAISED.

Reinforcements Cause Boers to Retire Grobler Negotiating For Surrender.

Cape Town, Sept. 6.—Reports received from Ladybrand, in the Orange Free State, near the Basutoland border, say the Boers who have been besieging the garrison of 150 men for some days are returning. On Monday the 2,000 Boers who surrounded the town used their nine guns all day without result. Tuesday morning the Boers renewed the attack with small arm fire, but later this fire ceased, and the Boers retired, presumably in the face of the arrival of reinforcements.

Pretoria, Sept. 6.—Commandant Grobler, who has been operating with Olivier, the Boer leader recently captured by the British, is negotiating with the British with a view of surrendering his force. He asks for equal treatment for a few of his followers who fought after taking the oath of allegiance to the British.

DEMISE OF ARTHUR SEWALL.

Was Candidate For Vice President In 1896—Large Shipowner.

Bath, Me., Sept. 6.—The Hon. Arthur Sewall died at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday at his summer home, Small Point about 12 miles from this city, of apoplexy, the stroke having been sustained last Sunday.

Mr. Sewall was born in Bath, Me. in 1835. He was one of the largest shipowners in New England states director of several railroads and banks and interested in several other enterprises. He was an ardent Democrat and for several years a member of the national committee of his party. In 1896 Mr. Sewall was on the Democratic ticket as a candidate for vice president.

RETURNS NEARLY ALL IN.

Vermont Shows a Republican Loss and a Democratic Gain.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 6.—Returns from 232 cities and towns out of 246 cities and towns in the state give the vote for governor as follows: Stickney, Rep., 46,934; Senter, Dem., 15,494; all others, 1,268. The same towns in 1896 gave Grout, Rep., 52,029; Jackson, Dem., 14,556; all others, 1,589.

The returns from these towns give a Republican plurality of 31,430 and a majority of 30,172. The Republican loss is 9 per cent and the Democratic gain 15 per cent.

MR. CARNEGIE'S STATEMENT.

He Denounces Recent Reports of Misunderstanding In His Steel Company.

London, Sept. 6.—Andrew Carnegie has sent the following telegram in answer to the reports of friction in the great steel company of which he is the head:

"There is not one particle of truth in reports of friction in the Carnegie company. On the contrary, the company's affairs were never more harmonious in all its history."

What the Census Figures Show.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Officials returns show the population of Akron, O., to be 43,728; gain last ten years of 67.16 per cent. Lancaster, Pa., 41,459; gain, 24.22 per cent. Birmingham, Ala., 38,415; gain, 46.75. Canton, O., 30,667; gain, 17.10 per cent. Dayton, O., 35,333; gain, 39.39 per cent. Albany, N. Y., 94,151; decrease, .81 per cent. Bayonne, N. J., 32,722; gain, 71.92 per cent. Salt Lake City, Utah, 53,531; gain, 19.37 per cent.

Daughter's Testimony Against Father.

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—In the trial of Thomas J. Rohland, for killing his wife, at West Newton, his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Markle, told her story amid tears and sobs. She saw her mother murdered and told of months of family infelicity and threats. She testified also that she once heard her father say to her mother that they would both die together.

President to Attend His Niece's Wedding.

Washington, Sept. 6.—President and Mrs. McKinley will leave here either Monday or Tuesday for Somerset, Pa., to attend the wedding of Miss Mabel McKinley and Dr. Baer. The trip to Somerset will be made by daylight. Immediately after the ceremony they will depart for Canton to remain some days.

No New Cases of Bubonic Plague.

Glasgow, Sept. 6.—No new cases of bubonic plague have been reported.

THE NATIONAL PARTY

PLATFORM IS SHORT AND SWEET.

It Declares For Renunciation of Colonial Pretensions, the Single Gold Standard, Public Service Based on Merit, and the Abolition of All Special Privileges.

New York, Sept. 6.—The National party—the official name of the third party—met in convention yesterday in Carnegie hall, this city, and nominated candidates for president and vice president of the United States. A platform was adopted and a title and emblem chosen. These are its candidates:

For president, Donaldson Caffrey, of Louisiana.

For vice president, Archibald Murray Howe, of Cambridge, Mass.

There were no other candidates for the positions and the nominations were received with hearty applause. The platform adopted says:

"The citizens of the United States of America, assembled for the purpose of defending the wise and conservative principles which underlie our government, thus declare our aims and purposes:

"We find our country threatened with alternative perils. On the one hand is a public opinion misled by organized forces of commercialism that have perverted a war intended by the people to be a war of humanity into a war of conquest. On the other hand is a public opinion swayed by demagogic appeals to factional and class passions, the most fatal diseases to a republic. We believe that either of these influences, if unchecked, would ultimately compass the downfall of our country, but we also believe that neither represents the sober conviction of our countrymen.

"Convinced that the extension of the jurisdiction of the United States for the purpose of holding foreign people as colonial dependencies is an innovation dangerous to our liberties and repugnant to the principles upon which our government is founded, we pledge our efforts through all constitutional means—

"First—To procure the renunciation of all Imperial colonial pretensions with regard to foreign countries claimed to have been acquired through or in consequence of military or naval operations of the last two years.

"Second—We further pledge our efforts to secure a single gold standard and a sound banking system.

"Third—To secure a public service based on merit only.

"Fourth—To secure the abolition of all corrupting special privileges, whether under the guise of subsidies, bounties, undeserved pensions or trust-breeding tariffs."

The convention was called to order by Thomas M. Osborne, of Auburn, N. Y., who presided at the Indianapolis preliminary meeting a month ago. Everett Abbott was secretary. There was no roll call. All the delegates were volunteers who had replied by their presence to the invitation issued to all persons in sympathy with the objects of the party.

Chairman Osborne's speech in calling the meeting to order followed the lines which are expressed in the platform. Speeches were also made by John Jay Chapman and Archibald Murray Howe.

It was decided that the party be known as a national party and that its emblem be the statue of liberty on the capitol dome at Washington.

A resolution was passed instructing the campaign committee, when it shall be appointed, to provide posters for voters who wish to cross out any name on the Democratic or Republican electoral ticket, the poster to have on it the name of some citizen known to stand for "peace, liberty and sound money." This is to be done in any state in which the committee finds such a movement is practical.

Mr. Bryan in the Mountain State.

Deer Park, Md., Sept. 6.—Mr. Bryan addressed two large meetings—one at Morgan's grove, Sheppardstown, W. Va., and at Keyser, W. Va. At both places the crowds greeted the national candidate with enthusiasm and both speeches were vigorously applauded as point after point was made. There were large audiences at both meetings, but that of the grove was exceptional in size.

Ohio Democrats Make a Nomination.

of Canton. The district has been carried but twice by the Democrats in the last quarter of a century.

New York State Republican Ticket.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 6.—B. B. Odell, for governor, and Timothy L. Woodruff, for lieutenant governor, is the Republican state ticket that has been nominated. Ex-Governor Black nominated the former and Chauncey Depew the latter. A complete state ticket was put in the field.

Republicans Open Indiana Campaign.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—Senator Fairbanks opened the Republican campaign here in a long speech at the opera house. Governor Roosevelt, of New York; Senator Burrows, of Michigan; Corporal Tanner, of New York, and other prominent Republicans will soon enter the state.

West Virginia Democrats Nominated.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 6.—The Democratic convention to nominate delegates to the legislature from the district composed of Jefferson, Berkeley and Morgan named Hon. H. S. Cushman, of this city, and Ross M. Fisher, of Berkeley Springs.

New York, Sept. 6.—By contrast with the recent dead level of apathy Wednesday's trading in stocks seemed like positive animation. The aggregate of dealings was considerably larger than for some time past, and the total was not made up with an overwhelming preponderance of trading in one or two stocks. Sugar, People's Gas and Brooklyn Transit all continued fairly prominent, but there was a marked increase of interest in railroad stocks and the number of shares of some of the individual railroads dealt in compared favorably with the totals in the speculative favorites among the industrials. There was a peculiar irregularity of movement in the specialties. Sugar, as a rule, moving up, while People's Gas was going down and Sugar reacting as People's Gas recovered. Both stocks were largely dealt in both above and below Tuesday night's level. There was strenuous support in Sugar at the opening, and the 4,000 shares thrown upon the market were taken at prices running from 123 to 124, compared with 122 1/2 Tuesday night. Friends of the stock were evidently in doubt how the dividend declaration of 1 1/2 per cent for the quarter would be accepted, as the stock was rushed up Tuesday on the supposition that the dividend would be 2 per cent or more. Encouraged by powerful support, the stock was pushed up at one time to 123 1/2, but it turned heavy during the latter part of the day and closed with a net loss of 1 1/2. People's Gas, on the other hand, was weak in the early dealings on continued reports of extreme measures contemplated in the Chicago gas war. The stock touched 91, but rallied 2 points and closed with a net gain of 1/4.

There was early strength in some of the iron and steel stocks, but they sagged away in the late dealings, seemingly under the apprehension that today's trade reviews might have something unfavorable to say. The cause of the rise in the railroad stocks was not very clear, but there was a manifest accession of confidence on the part of the bulls. Dealings were largely professional, but there was buying on a large scale in a number of stocks, individual transactions running up to 2,000 shares in some cases.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—An improved export demand was the main support to a dull and generally weak wheat market Wednesday. October closed 1/4 @ 1/2c under yesterday. Corn closed 1/4c lower, and oats 1/2c higher. Provision closed a shade to 1/4c lower.

EVENTS BRIEFLY NARRATED.

Butler county fair is open. Minnesota Democrats and Populists will fuse.

Pugilist Fitzsimmons, of New York, will make Chicago his home.

Smethport Electric street railway, Smethport, Pa., chartered; capital, $12,000.

John C. Bain has been appointed postmaster at Lawsonham, Clarion county, Pa.

Between 500 and 600 of the McDonald family held a reunion at Alliquippa, below Pittsburgh.

Holbrook Mann, a New Jersey boy, who broke his neck recently, is still alive and reported better.

Scranton Prohibitionists claim President McKinley is "chummy" with big brewers and distillers.

Mrs. Caroline Mavero, a London, England, barmaid, has recovered $20,000 in a breach of promise suit.

While at play at Greensburg, Pa., Lizzie Sajuli, aged 8, shot Dominic Wionl, aged 6. The boy will die.

An Editor Found Dead In Bed.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 6.—Marion Stuart Cann, aged 41 years, at one time editor of the Birmingham Age Herald, and later city editor of the Louisville Courier Journal, afterward filling similar positions in the Republican and Truth, this city, was found dead in bed by his mother. He died from heart failure.

Ohio Beer Brewers and the War Tax.

Toledo, O., Sept. 6.—The Ohio Association of Brewers is holding its annual session in Toledo. The meeting promises to be one of great importance, as the manufacturers of beer all over Ohio will attempt to devise some way by which they can escape payment of the additional war revenue tax on beer.

A $50,000 Case at Uniontown Non-Suited.

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 6.—The case of Isadore L. Coffman against the Fayette Gas Fuel company has been non-suited by Judge Umbel. Coffman claimed $50,000 damages for injuries sustained in an explosion at the company's regulator house, alleging that the explosion resulted from leaking gas.

Moderator For C. P. Synod.

Two New Trolley Lines at Canton.

Canton, O., Sept. 6.—Applications have been made to the county commissioners for a franchise over the public highways for the construction and maintenance of electric railways between Canton and Alliance and between Canton and Akron.

Big Money From the Far North.

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—The steamer Umctilla has arrived from the north, bringing about $1,500,000 in treasure from the Klondike and Douglas island and a few nuggets from Nome. The passengers from Nome all tell stories of hard luck.

PEOPLE QUIET.

Present Political Situation, and That Four Years Ago.

NOT WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

Detroit Abendpost, a Leading German Paper, on the Contrast.

WHY THE COUNTRY IS SO QUIET

Apostle From the West, Preaching the Free Silver Doctrine, Can Find No Enthusiastic Following Outside of the Minority Which Supported Him Four Years Ago.

The Detroit Abendpost, a German daily paper, published in Detroit, which is Independent-Republican in politics, thus discusses the political situation, under the caption, "Why Is Our Country So Quiet?"

A comparison of the national campaign during the month of August, 1900, with the conditions prevalent during August, 1896, immediately brings to one's attention one great difference. At that time all was excitement; and even as early as the harvest month political speeches were held everywhere, speakers traveled about, and wherever one showed himself, no matter what his abilities were, he was immediately surrounded by a crowd of attentive listeners, eager to learn more and more about the new mystery. There was great excitement in the whole north of the United States.

The country was passing through a great financial, commercial and industrial crisis. Hundreds of thousands of strong men, willing to work and ready to work, could not find employment, for factories were closed down, business was at a standstill, and even railroads had curtailed their operations, as the number of passengers and the volume of freight were decreasing from month to month. Those were bad days for the rich United States. We had just had four years of Democratic administration.

And in those sad days there came from the far west an apostle, the man of the "cross of gold and the crown of thorns," the man from Nebraska, the great orator, who, on account of his forcible oratorical ability, secured the presidential nomination and preached free silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, declaring that scarcity of the circulating medium was alone to blame for the hard times and distress. As soon as this scarcity would be removed, the conditions in this country would improve, happiness and prosperity would again come to our suffering country, which was brought to the brink of the abyss by that financial system which gives every dollar its full value, and makes it equally valuable in every part of the world; and that our country would go to perdition unless that system were changed and free silver substituted.

Hundreds of thousands, yea, even millions, applauded. The new doctrine found many believers among the suffering laboring men and the hard-pressed farmers, and wherever the apostle of the new doctrine appeared, great ovations met him. His speaking tour through the whole country was like a grand triumphant march, and an almost furious excitement possessed the people, who saw their salvation in the new doctrine.

However, this doctrine, which it was to clothe in an old garment by calling it the "dollar of our fathers," did not wait long for opposition. The danger which a less valuable circulating medium would prove to our country, especially also in view of our foreign trade, amounting to almost $2,000,000,000, was only too clear to every sensible man; and on the part of the Republicans, and also of those Democrats who had left their party on account of the new doctrine, and now styled themselves "Gold Democrats," a bitter war was declared against the free silver heresy; and as early as August, especially in the north, and at all times until the eve of election, the battle waged equally

The uncertainty at the time prevalent, the sad condition of our country, the promises of better conditions by adopting the new doctrine and following the wonderful eloquence of the apostle, produced that great excitement four years ago, of which now nothing is noticeable. Everything is now quiet from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Nowhere a trace of excitement, in spite of the exertions of a part of the press to cause such by publishing inflammatory articles and inciting the public in a despicable manner.

The people seem to take no interest in the campaign; they even seem averse to doing so. There is neither desire nor time to talk politics. There has been plenty of work during the past three years, and of the serious wounds which the terrible times of panic caused, we now see only the scars. There is now plenty of work.

THE PEOPLE DO NOT WANT A CHANGE; they desire no new experiments like the one in 1892, for which they suffered so frightfully. The people say: "Let well enough alone," and will, accordingly, at the proper time. On that account everything is so quiet, so peaceful, in our country. The same question which four years ago caused such great excitement is again before the public, and the decision will be the same.

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS.

W. S. Kerr of Mansfield Tells Why Party Should Win.

ONLY QUESTION TO BE DECIDED

Is Whether the People Know a Good Thing When They See It—Fulfillment of Republican Pledges Should Incline the People to Continue Party in Power.

Four years ago, when the people were borne down by financial disorder and business distress, the Republican party achieved a signal victory, because a large majority recognized the fact that alone through Republican legislation and the confidence inspired by Republican administration, could the country be lifted from the slough into which it had been thrown by four years of Democratic rule.

The judgment of this majority has been vindicated by three years of the most exuberant prosperity under Republican laws.

The only substantial issue is whether this same majority knows a good thing when they see it. If they do, McKinley will be elected. If they have

HON. WINFIELD S. KERR. forgotten the calamities, which were thick upon us during the last administration of Cleveland, and are stone blind to the splendid prosperity all around us now, there may be danger, but all signs indicate that this majority is endowed with a sound memory and good sight.

Men who were afraid of the Democratic party and of its new doctrines in 1896, should be more fearful now; the stake is greater. In 1896 hope was about all that was left, but today all of the vast business and industrial and agricultural interests of the country, in a condition at once safe and prosperous, depend upon the continuation of the Republican party in power.

with great business, there is no time for politics. The country is going right along any change of parties will not stop the great tide of business.

In 1892, and it may do so in 1900. The little doubt as to the result has hurt business. The Democratic party can not be trusted to help the country during panic and distress, nor to keep us along prosperous lines in times like the present. It has no statesmanship of the right kind. It has always been wrong about the disease and the remedy.

In 1892 the Democratic party said that the evil was high prices caused by a protective tariff. They enacted the Wilson bill and prices came down.

In 1896 they said the great evil is low prices caused by the gold standard, and the sole remedy is free silver at 16 to 1. Upon the prediction of the campaign of 1896, the leaders of the Democratic party staked their reputations as statesmen and lost them. They assured the people that times could get no better without the free coinage of silver. Against that proposition we asserted that the whole trouble was the lack of employment at remunerative wages, and that the remedy was the enactment of a protective tariff that would give the American producer protection and opportunity.

We got in and had our way; we enacted a protective tariff, adhered to the gold standard and rejected free silver.

The result has verified every prediction we made, and under our policy the country has grown and prospered until it is marvel of the world.

This year the Democratic party appears with the concession that the tariff is all right—that the gold standard is not sufficiently dangerous to require discussion—that the country is all right—but, they assert, that we are in danger of becoming an imperial power. And so we are. If the Republican party remains in power another decade, this nation will be the mightiest nation of the earth. Without war or bloodshed, without forming political connections with foreign nations or encroachment upon their right or domain, we will wield a power that will make us masters of the world—an imperial nation. The nations will want our products, and through the peaceful channels of trade and commerce we will conquer.

SOUTH KICKING

Over the Application of Bryan's Catch Phrase to Negro Vote.

The Bryan warcry, "consent of the governed," is proving a two-edged sword to the Bryan managers, smiting their friends and dividing their forces. A strong chorus of dissatisfaction is arising in the south over the reproach cast by the Indianapolis anti-imperialist platform upon the political methods of the Democratic party in that section, by which alone Bryan can get any Democratic electoral votes in the south.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial-Appeal and Macon (Ga.) Telegraph are resenting that resolution of the Indianapolis anti-imperialist convention, which declares that in supporting the principles of the Declaration of Independence they meant to apply them to the negro race in America, as well as to the Philippines, and that they deprecate all efforts to deprive the negro of his rights as a citizen. The Macon Telegraph, for example, says that "there can be no objection to these people voting the Democratic ticket; but it is very offensive to the people of the south for the south-hating, negro-loving agitators like Boutwell to give them a slap in the face upon the threshold, when they declare themselves Democratic."

Cleveland's free trade panic proved that every man, every woman, has a direct personal interest in having the right president. Let every one imperiled financially by the risks of Bryanism help then to vote him out again.

If you don't do your own duty in this campaign and election, never blame anyone else if trouble comes.

FREIGHT RATES TO STAND.

Trunk Line Association Will Give No Relief to Pittsburgh Shippers.

New York, Sept. 6.—A meeting of the freight agents of the Trunk Line association was held here yesterday to consider the alleged grievances of steel and iron shippers who recently complained that the present schedule from Pittsburgh to the seaboard operated against them in favor of lake ports. In proof of this complaint they pointed out that the present rate on steel shipments from Pittsburgh to the seaboard is 18 cents per 100 pounds, while from Cleveland to New York via Buffalo and the Erie canal the rate is 8 cents. This and similar complaints were laid before the agents at yesterday's session, which was presided over by Commissioner Goddard. The matter was debated in all its phases, and after a protracted session it was resolved to maintain the present rates without the slightest deviation. In explanation of the determined attitude of the agents Commissioner Goddard said that a reduction in rates to the seaboard for export would probably have resulted in a confusion of domestic freight rates, and rather than upset the present classification it was deemed best to leave rates undisturbed.

Powers Sentenced to Prison For Life.

Georgetown, Ky., Sept. 6.—Judge Cantrell yesterday overruled the bill of exceptions in the case of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers, convicted as accessory before the fact to the assassination of William Goebel and sentenced the prisoner for life.

From Newsboy to Judgeship.

Steubenville, O., Sept. 6.—Republicans of the Seventh Ohio judicial district have nominated John M. Cook, of this city, for circuit judge. Mr. Cook was born and reared in Pittsburgh, and got his start in life selling papers. He is recognized as the head of the bar here.

PEOPLE QUIET.

Present Political Situation, and That Four Years Ago.

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

Detroit Abendpost, a Leading German Paper, on the Contrast.

WHY THE COUNTRY IS SO QUIET

Apostle From the West, Preaching the Free Silver Doctrine, Can Find No Enthusiastic Following Outside of the Minority Which Supported Him Four Years Ago.

The Detroit Abendpost, a German daily paper, published in Detroit, which is Independent-Republican in politics, thus discusses the political situation, under the caption, "Why Is Our Country So Quiet?"

A comparison of the national campaign during the month of August, 1900, with the conditions prevalent during August, 1896, immediately brings to one's attention one great difference. At that time all was excitement; and even as early as the harvest month political speeches were held everywhere, speakers traveled about, and wherever one showed himself, no matter what his abilities were, he was immediately surrounded by a crowd of attentive listeners, eager to learn more and more about the new mystery. There was great excitement in the whole north of the United States.

The country was passing through a great financial, commercial and industrial crisis. Hundreds of thousands of strong men, willing to work and ready to work, could not find employment, for factories were closed down, business was at a standstill, and even railroads had curtailed their operations, as the number of passengers and the volume of freight were decreasing from month to month. Those were bad days for the rich United States.
We had just had four years of Democratic administration.

And in those sad days there came from the far west an apostle, the man of the "cross of gold and the crown of thorns," the man from Nebraska, the great orator, who, on account of his forceful oratorical ability, secured the presidential nomination and preached free silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, declaring that scarcity of the circulating medium was alone to blame for the hard times and distress. As soon as this scarcity would be removed, the conditions in this country would improve, happiness and prosperity would again come to our suffering country, which was brought to the brink of the abyss by that financial system which gives every dollar its full value, and makes it equally valuable in every part of the world; and that our country would go to perdition unless that system were changed and free silver substituted.

Hundreds of thousands, yea, even millions, applauded. The new doctrine found many believers among the suffering laboring men and the hard-pressed farmers, and wherever the apostle of the new doctrine appeared, great ovations met him. His speaking tour through the whole country was like a grand triumphant march, and an almost furious excitement possessed the people, who saw their salvation in the new doctrine.

However, this doctrine, which it was at to clothe in an old garment by calling it the "dollar of our fathers," did not wait long for opposition. The danger which a less valuable circulating medium would prove to our country, especially also in view of our foreign trade, amounting to almost $2,000,000,000, was only too clear to every sensible man; and on the part of the Republicans, and also of those Democrats who had left their party on account of the new doctrine, and now styled themselves "Gold Democrats," a bitter war was declared against the free silver heresy; and as early as August, especially in the north, and at all times until the eve of election, the battle waged equally fast and furious, and not even the shrewdest politician could foretell the result; but this finally proved a glorious victory for common sense.

The uncertainty at the time prevalent, the sad condition of our country, the promises of better conditions by adopting the new doctrine and following the wonderful eloquence of the apostle, produced that great excitement four years ago, of which now nothing is noticeable. Everything is now quiet from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Nowhere a trace of excitement, in spite of the exertions of a part of the press to cause such by publishing inflammatory articles and inciting the public in a despicable manner.

The people seem to take no interest in the campaign; they even seem averse to doing so. There is neither desire nor time to talk politics. There has been plenty of work during the past three years, and of the serious wounds which the terrible times of panic caused, we now see only the scars. There is now plenty of work.

THE PEOPLE DO NOT WANT A CHANGE; they desire no new experiments like the one in 1892, for which they suffered so frightfully. The people say: Let well enough alone," and will, accordingly, at the proper time. On that account everything is so quiet, so peaceful, in our country.
The same question which four years ago caused such great excitement is again before the public, and the decision will be the same.

ard, and the sole remedy is free silver at 16 to 1. Upon the prediction of the campaign of 1896, the leaders of the Democratic party staked their reputations as statesmen and lost them. They assured the people that times could get no better without the free coinage of silver. Against that proposition we asserted that the whole trouble was the lack of employment at remunerative wages, and that the remedy was the enactment of a protective tariff that would give the American producer protection and opportunity.

We got in and had our way; we enacted a protective tariff, adhered to the gold standard and rejected free silver.

The result has verified every prediction we made, and under our policy the country has grown and prospered until it is marvel of the world.

This year the Democratic party appears with the concession that the tariff is all right—that the gold standard is not sufficiently dangerous to require discussion—that the country is all right—but, they assert, that we are in danger of becoming an imperial power. And so we are. If the Republican party remains in power another decade, this nation will be the mightiest nation of the earth. Without war or bloodshed, without forming political connections with foreign nations or encroachment upon their right or domain, we will wield a power that will make us masters of the world—an imperial nation. The nations will want our products, and through the peaceful channels of trade and commerce we will conquer.

SOUTH KICKING

Over the Application of Bryan's Catch Phrase to Negro Vote.

The Bryan warcy, "consent of the governed," is proving a two-edged sword to the Bryan managers, smiting their friends and dividing their forces.
A strong chorus of dissatisfaction is arising in the south over the reproach cast by the Indianapolis anti-imperialist platform upon the political methods of the Democratic party in that section, by which alone Bryan can get any Democratic electoral votes in the south.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser,
Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial-Appeal and Macon (Ga.) Telegraph are responding that resolution of the Indianapolis anti-imperialist convention, which declares that in supporting the principles of the Declaration of Independence they meant to apply them to the negro race in America, as well as to the Philippines, and that they deprecate all efforts to deprive the negro of his rights as a citizen. The Macon Telegraph, for example, says that "there can be no objection to these people voting the Democratic ticket; but it is very offensive to the people of the south for the south-hating, negro-loving agitators like Boutwell to give them a slap in the face upon the threshold, when they declare themselves Democratic."

Cleveland's free trade panic proved that every man, every woman, has a direct personal interest in having the right president. Let every one imperiled financially by the risks of Bryanism help then to vote him out again.

If you don't do your own duty in this campaign and election, never blame anyone else if trouble comes.

Bury Bryan beneath so big a vote that his financial fallacies will never revive.

FREIGHT RATES TO STAND.

Trunk Line Association Will Give No Relief to Pittsburgh Shippers.

New York, Sept. 8.—A meeting of the freight agents of the Trunk Line association was held here yesterday to consider the alleged grievances of steel and iron shippers who recently complained that the present schedule from Pittsburg to the seaboard operated against them in favor of lake ports. In proof of this complaint they pointed out that the present rate on steel shipments from Pittsburg to the seaboard is 18 cents per 100 pounds; while from Cleveland to New York via Buffalo and the Erie canal the rate is 8 cents.
This and similar complaints were laid before the agents at yesterday's session, which was presided over by Commissioner Goddard. The matter was debated in all its phases, and after a protracted session it was resolved to maintain the present rates without the slightest deviation. In explanation of the determined attitude of the agents Commissioner Goddard said that a reduction in rates to the seaboard for export would probably have resulted in a confusion of domestic freight rates, and rather than upset the present classification it was deemed best to leave rates undisturbed.

Powers Sentenced to Prison For Life.

Georgetown, Ky., Sept. 6.—Judge Cantrill yesterday overruled the bill of exceptions in the case of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers, convicted as accessory before the fact to the assassination of William Goebel and sentenced the prisoner for life.

his start in life selling papers. He is recognized as the head of the bar here.

PEOPLE QUIET.

Present Political Situation, and That Four Years Ago.

Detroit Abendpost, a Leading German Paper, on the Contrast.

WHY THE COUNTRY IS SO QUIET

Apostle From the West, Preaching the Free Silver Doctrine, Can Find No Enthusiastic Following Outside of the Minority Which Supported Him Four Years Ago.

The Detroit Abendpost, a German daily paper, published in Detroit, which is Independent-Republican in politics, thus discusses the political situation, under the caption, "Why Is Our Country So Quiet?"

A comparison of the national campaign during the month of August, 1900, with the conditions prevalent during August, 1896, immediately brings to one's attention one great difference. At that time all was excitement; and even as early as the harvest month political speeches were held everywhere, speakers traveled about, and wherever one showed himself, no matter what his abilities were, he was immediately surrounded by a crowd of attentive listeners, eager to learn more and more about the new mystery. There was great excitement in the whole north of the United States.

The country was passing through a great financial, commercial and industrial crisis. Hundreds of thousands of strong men, willing to work and ready to work, could not find employment, for factories were closed down, business was at a standstill, and even railroads had curtailed their operations, as the number of passengers and the volume of freight were decreasing from month to month. Those were bad days for the rich United States. We had just had four years of Democratic administration.

And in those sad days there came from the far west an apostle, the man of the "cross of gold and the crown of thorns," the man from Nebraska, the great orator, who, on account of his forcible oratorical ability, secured the presidential nomination and preached free silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, declaring that scarcity of the circulating medium was alone to blame for the hard times and distress. As soon as this scarcity would be removed, the conditions in this country would improve, happiness and prosperity would again come to our suffering country, which was brought to the brink of the abyss by that financial system which gives every dollar its full value, and makes it equally valuable in every part of the world; and that our country would go to perdition unless that system were changed and free silver substituted.

Hundreds of thousands, yea, even millions, applauded. The new doctrine found many believers among the suffering laboring men and the hard-pressed farmers, and wherever the apostle of the new doctrine appeared, great ovations met him. His speaking tour through the whole country was like a grand triumphant march, and an almost furious excitement possessed the people, who saw their salvation in the new doctrine.

However, this doctrine, which it was to clothe in an old garment by calling it the "dollar of our fathers," did not wait long for opposition. The danger which a less valuable circulating medium would prove to our country, especially also in view of our foreign trade, amounting to almost $2,000,000,000, was only too clear to every sensible man; and on the part of the Republicans, and also of those Democrats who had left their party on account of the new doctrine, and now styled themselves "Gold Democrats," a bitter war was declared against the free silver heresy; and as early as August, especially in the north, and at all times until the eve of election, the battle waged equally

The uncertainty at the time prevalent, the sad condition of our country, the promises of better conditions by adopting the new doctrine and following the wonderful eloquence of the apostle, produced that great excitement four years ago, of which now nothing is noticeable. Everything is now quiet from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Nowhere a trace of excitement, in spite of the exertions of a part of the press to cause such by publishing inflammatory articles and inciting the public in a despicable manner.

The people seem to take no interest in the campaign; they even seem averse to doing so. There is neither desire nor time to talk politics. There has been plenty of work during the past three years, and of the serious wounds which the terrible times of panic caused, we now see only the scars. There is now plenty of work.

THE PEOPLE DO NOT WANT A CHANGE; they desire no new experiments like the one in 1892, for which they suffered so frightfully. The people say: Let well enough alone, and will, accordingly, at the proper time. On that account everything is so quiet, so peaceful, in our country. The same question which four years ago caused such great excitement is again before the public, and the decision will be the same.

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS.

W. S. Kerr of Mansfield Tells Why Party Should Win.

Is Whether the People Know a Good Thing When They See It—Fulfillment of Republican Pledges Should Induce the People to Continue Party in Power.

Four years ago, when the people were borne down by financial disorder and business distress, the Republican party achieved a signal victory, because a large majority recognized the fact that alone through Republican legislation and the confidence inspired by Republican administration, could the country be lifted from the slough into which it had been thrown by four years of Democratic rule.

The only substantial issue is whether this same majority knows a good thing when they see it. If they do, McKinley will be elected. If they have

HON. WINFIELD S. KERR. forgotten the calamities, which were thick upon us during the last administration of Cleveland, and are stone blind to the splendid prosperity all around us now, there may be danger, but all signs indicate that this majority is endowed with a sound memory and good sight.

Men who were afraid of the Democratic party and of its new doctrines in 1896, should be more fearful now; the stake is greater. In 1896 hope was about all that was left, but today all of the vast business and industrial and agricultural interests of the country, in a condition at once safe and prosperous, depend upon the continuation of the Republican party in power.

with great business, no time for politics. The change of parties will not stop the great tide of business.

In 1892, and it may do so in 1900, already the little doubt as to the result has hurt business. The Democratic party can not be trusted to help the country during panic and distress, nor to keep us along prosperous lines in times like the present. It has no statesmanship of the right kind. It has always been wrong about the disease and the remedy.

In 1892 the Democratic party said that the evil was high prices caused by a protective tariff. They enacted the Wilson bill and prices came down.

In 1896 they said the great evil is low prices caused by the gold standard, and the sole remedy is free silver at 16 to 1. Upon the prediction of the campaign of 1896, the leaders of the Democratic party staked their reputations as statesmen and lost them. They assured the people that times could get no better without the free coinage of silver. Against that proposition we asserted that the whole trouble was the lack of employment at remunerative wages, and that the remedy was the enactment of a protective tariff that would give the American producer protection and opportunity.

We got in and had our way; we enacted a protective tariff, adhered to the gold standard and rejected free silver.

The result has verified every prediction we made, and under our policy the country has grown and prospered until it is marvel of the world.

This year the Democratic party appears with the concession that the tariff is all right—that the gold standard is not sufficiently dangerous to require discussion—that the country is all right—but, they assert, that we are in danger of becoming an imperial power. And so we are. If the Republican party remains in power another decade, this nation will be the mightiest nation of the earth. Without war or bloodshed, without forming political connections with foreign nations or encroachment upon their right or domain, we will wield a power that will make us masters of the world—an imperial nation. The nations will want our products, and through the peaceful channels of trade and commerce we will conquer.

Trunk Line Association Will Give No Relief to Pittsburgh Shippers.

New York, Sept. 6.—A meeting of the freight agents of the Trunk Line association was held here yesterday to consider the alleged grievances of steel and iron shippers who recently complained that the present schedule from Pittsburgh to the seaboard operated against them in favor of lake ports. In proof of this complaint they pointed out that the present rate on steel shipments from Pittsburgh to the seaboard is 18 cents per 100 pounds, while from Cleveland to New York via Buffalo and the Erie canal the rate is 8 cents. ## ATTITUDE OF JAPAN.

It Is Said Her Troops Will Remain in Peking.

BAD MORAL EFFECT TO WITHDRAW.

Russia's Reason For Taking Her Soldiers Out of China Is to Keep Up Good Relations With Earl Li—Opinions of Continental Papers.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—A member of the Japanese legation in Berlin informed the correspondent of the Associated Press yesterday that the legation had not yet been advised as to the attitude of Japan regarding the withdrawal of the international troops from Peking. The official in question, however, expressed the opinion that the Japanese troops would remain there.

"The withdrawal of the allies," said the official, "would have a very bad moral effect in China. Russia, I believe, will withdraw because from her standpoint this is the shrewdest thing to do, as it would insure the continuance of her influence in Peking, particularly with Li Hung Chang, who has always been ready to do Russia's will in China."

The papers comment this evening upon Russia's latest communique and upon the utterances of the Journal de St. Petersburg regarding it. The Vossische Zeitung says that it will not make Russia's surprising step any more intelligible. The National Zeitung observes:

"Indirectly this communique confirms the view that Russia no longer insists upon her proposition to withdraw the troops from Peking. We can only interpret her latest declaration in a sense favorable to the harmony of the powers."

The Berliner Tageblatt, which understands Russia's sharply accentuated declaration against military action extending beyond the capture of Peking aimed at Germany, says: "Russia is jealous of so strong a rival in China as Germany, since she wishes to establish for herself a sort of Monroe doctrine there. Her proposition is dictated by political and not by military motives."

The Freisinnige Zeitung complains that Germany is handling the question of the evacuation of Peking in a dilatory fashion, and the Rheinische Westfaelische Zeitung devotes a series of articles to Germany's China policy sharply attacking it.

The Frankfurter Zeitung prints a Shanghai special, saying that the new German minister to China, Baron Mumm von Schwarzenstein, visited the Chinese quarter of the city without a military escort and returned without molestation.

London, Sept. 6.—The cancellation of the order holding back the Fourth Indian brigade is regarded as important. It shows that, whatever the outcome of the Russian policy, the British government is determined to have sufficient troops on the spot to adequately protect British interests.

Considerable significance is attached to the statement by the Journal de St. Petersburg as possibly indicating a modification of the Russian policy. This paper is the organ of the Russian foreign office, its editor being a councillor of state. It is noted that, while the Journal de St. Petersburg announces Russia's determination to maintain the solidarity of the powers

it only mentions the withdrawal of the ministers and not of the troops to Tien Tsin. It is believed that the powers might agree to such a modification of the original Russian proposal.

The Vienna correspondent of The Times, discussing the situation, declares that Japan has a strong disposition to act in harmony with the United States in the Chinese question.

A Shanghai dispatch announces that German troops will land there today (Thursday). Curiously enough they will be located in barracks adjoining the residence of Li Hung Chang.

United States Consul Goodnow, according to The Daily News, says there never was any necessity for landing troops at Shanghai.

CLEARING OUT THE BOXERS.

French Are Shooting Them, While Japanese Cut Their Heads Off.

Taku, Sept. 6.—An expedition will shortly start for Pao Ting Fu, clearing the villages en route which were the seat of the first Boxer outrages in the province of Chi Li. The Russian intend to repair the railway through to Peking.

It is reliably asserted that native soldiery, acting under the orders of Li Hung Chang, are exterminating the Boxers in the provinces of Hu Nan and Chi Li. Four prominent Boxers were executed in Tien Tsin yesterday. The French shot two and the Japanese beheaded the others. The executions have had a good moral effect.

THE EMPRESS GROWS DEFIANT.

Says the Court Fled From Peking to Save the Emperor's Life.

Shanghai, Sept. 6.—An imperial edict, dated Tai Yuan Fu, Aug 20, says the court fled from Peking on account of the disturbances between the Boxers and the Christians and the fear that the emperor would be killed.

The viceroys are exhorted to unite in order to avenge the injuries suffered at the hands of the allies; to raise taxes and to enroll troops. The edict is signed by the empress dowager, and is worded in a defiant tone.

"Hello, Mike, do you find much to do now?"

ATTITUDE OF JAPAN.

It Is Said Her Troops Will Remain In Peking.

BAD MORAL EFFECT TO WITHDRAW.

Russia's Reason For Taking Her Soldiers Out of China Is to Keep Up Good Relations With Earl Li—Opinions of Continental Papers.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—A member of the Japanese legation in Berlin informed the correspondent of the Associated Press yesterday that the legation had not yet been advised as to the attitude of Japan regarding the withdrawal of the international troops from Peking. The official in question, however, expressed the opinion that the Japanese troops would remain there.

"The withdrawal of the allies," said the official, "would have a very bad moral effect in China. Russia, I believe, will withdraw because from her standpoint this is the shrewdest thing to do, as it would insure the continuance of her influence in Peking, particularly with Li Hung Chang, who has always been ready to do Russia's will in China."

The papers comment this evening upon Russia's latest communique and upon the utterances of the Journal de St. Petersburg regarding it. The Vossische Zeitung says that it will not make Russia's surprising step any more intelligible. The National Zeitung observes:

"Indirectly this communique confirms the view that Russia no longer insists upon her proposition to withdraw the troops from Peking. We can only interpret her latest declaration in a sense favorable to the harmony of the powers."

The Berliner Tageblatt, which understands Russia's sharply accentuated declaration against military action extending beyond the capture of Peking aimed at Germany, says: "Russia is jealous of so strong a rival in China as Germany, since she wishes to establish for herself a sort of Monroe doctrine there. Her proposition is dictated by political and not by military motives."

The Freisinnige Zeitung complains that Germany is handling the question of the evacuation of Peking in a dilatory fashion, and the Rhenish Westfaelische Zeitung devotes a series of articles to Germany's China policy sharply attacking it.

The Frankfurter Zeitung prints a Shanghai special, saying that the new German minister to China, Baron Mumm von Schwarzenstein, visited the Chinese quarter of the city with out a military escort and returned without molestation.

London, Sept. 6.—The cancellation of the order holding back the Fourth Indian brigade is regarded as important. It shows that, whatever the outcome of the Russian policy, the British government is determined to have sufficient troops on the spot to adequately protect British interests.

Considerable significance is attached to the statement by the Journal de St. Petersburg as possibly indicating a modification of the Russian policy. This paper is the organ of the Russian foreign office, its editor being a councillor of state. It is noted that, while the Journal de St. Petersburg announces Russia's determination to maintain the solidarity of the powers

it only mentions the withdrawal of the ministers and not of the troops to Tien Tsin. It is believed that the powers might agree to such a modification of the original Russian proposal.

The Vienna correspondent of The Times, discussing the situation, declares that Japan has a strong disposition to act in harmony with the United States in the Chinese question.

A Shanghai dispatch announces that German troops will land there today (Thursday). Curiously enough they will be located in barracks adjoining the residence of Li Hung Chang.

United States Consul Goodnow, according to The Daily News, says there never was any necessity for landing troops at Shanghai.

CLEARING OUT THE BOXERS.

French Are Shooting Them, While Japanese Cut Their Heads Off.

Taku, Sept. 6.—An expedition will shortly start for Pao Ting Fu, clearing the villages en route which were the seat of the first Boxer outrages in the province of Chi Li. The Russian intend to repair the railway through to Peking.

It is reliably asserted that native soldiery, acting under the orders of Li Hung Chang, are exterminating the Boxers in the provinces of Hu Nan and Chi Li. Four prominent Boxers were executed in Tien Tsin yesterday. The French shot two and the Japanese headed the others. The executions have had a good moral effect.

THE EMPRESS GROWS DEFIANT.

Says the Court Fled From Peking to Save the Emperor's Life.

Shanghai, Sept. 6.—An imperial edict, dated Tai Yuan Fu, Aug 20, says the court fled from Peking on account of the disturbances between the Boxers and the Christians and the fear that the emperor would be killed.

The viceroys are exhorted to unite in order to avenge the injuries suffered at the hands of the allies; to raise taxes and to enroll troops. The edict is signed by the empress dowager, and is worded in a defiant tone.

"Hello, Mike, do you find much to do now?"

"Yis. I'm jest after cuttin down a tree, and tomorrow I'll have to cut it up."—Albany Journal.

PARK HAAS TOOK HIS LIFE

Was Found Hanging to the Rafters
In His Father's Barn
Yesterday.

HAD BEEN IN ILL HEALTH

It Is Supposed He Committed the Rash Act In a Fit of Despondency.

HAD WORKED IN YOUNGSTOWN

Lisbon, Sept. 6.—(Special.)—The usually quiet hamlet of Signal, near this place, was startled yesterday by the news of a suicide which occurred there during the afternoon.

Park Haas, son of Reuben Haas, residing near Signal, had been working in Youngstown for several months and returned to his father's home the other day.

The young man had been in ill health for some time and this is assigned as the cause of his action.

He was found hanging by a rope to the rafters in the barn and was quite dead when found by members of the family.

Deceased was 20 years of age and bore a good reputation. It is thought he became melancholy on account of the condition of his health, and in a fit of despondency took his own life.

DIED SUDDENLY.

George Johnson, an Aged Colored Man,
Expired Yesterday
Morning.

George Johnson, a colored man who resides on the Southside near the brick yard, died yesterday.

He was aged 76 years and death was caused by a complication of diseases.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be made at Locust Grove cemetery at Chester.

The deceased was a veteran of the civil war. Both the mother and daughter were absent when the man died, and they claim they did not know he was so sick or they would not have left him.

The whole Johnson family are notorious because of their connection with most of the rows around the upper end of Chester.

Mrs. Johnson came home the other night drunk and two black eyes bore witness to the fact that she had added another to her long list of scraps. A man by the name of George Steele was with her and had helped the matter along. They are all a bad lot.

BASE BALL.

The Lovers of the Game Are Jubilant
Over Five Straights by Pittsburg.

The Pittsburg base ball club has many admirers in East Liverpool, and the said enthusiasts are very jubilant over the fact of the Pittsburg boys having taken the scalps of the bean eating fraternity of ball tossers, from the classic shades of cultured Massachusetts, in five successive contests. Five straights is too utterly utter, and the Keystone boys are making a great pace for first place. It remains to be seen what they can do with the other crack teams of the big league. They seem to have a cinch on second place in the race. Pittsburg would go wild if its team could reach the head of the list. The Keystone boys will next tackle the champion Brooklyn, playing them a series of four games on the home grounds of the New Yorkers, and this will determine very largely the result of the contest for the head of the ticket. Honus Wagner has proven himself to be a rich treasure, and big Rube Waddell has again caught on in the game. The sports are looking for wonderful ball playing at Brooklyn.

A LOST CHILD.

She Wandered from Her Home Yesterday And Was Gone Several Hours.

The 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wooley, of Sunnyside, wandered away from its home yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock and it was only after a search of several hours that she was located and taken to the home of George Welsh, Seventh street.

The little one was a good walker for her age, and having visited the Welsh family frequently in company with her parents, yesterday concluded to pay a visit to her relatives on her own account, but in some manner lost her bearings and wandered about for several hours.

She was not missed from her home for some time, and the parents were greatly alarmed when her absence was discovered. The police were notified and the search was begun, but it was not until about 5 o'clock last evening that she was found by John Creal on Seventh street.

FRENCH SENTENCED.

The Bicycle Thief Received a Salty
Dose at Salem Yesterday.

Salem News.

William French pleaded guilty to the charge of larceny when arraigned before Mayor Huxley yesterday afternoon.

William Walker, of New Waterford, from whom French had purloined a wheel which he sold to Sebring parties, was in the city to appear against him with W. B. Thomas.

The mayor did not impose the penalty until last evening, when he sentenced French to 30 days' servitude in the Canton workhouse and fined him $20 and costs. Unless some of his friends pay the fine and costs, French will have to remain in the workhouse about four months.

Marshal Johnson took the prisoner to Canton this morning.

GOODE IS HERE.

He Denies That He Carried an Insurance Policy for $700.

B. E. Goode, of Jethro, whose house was burned to the ground one week ago today and who has been visiting at Powhatan, Belmont county, Ohio, arrived home yesterday and was surprised to find that his house had burned down, as he had received no word to that effect.

Mr. Goode states that nothing was saved and he had no insurance on the household goods or the stock in the store.

May They be Blessed.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist Protestant church today handed in the sum of $5 for the India famine fund. Money went forward today. God bless the generous givers.

Trades' Council So Decided at Their Regular Meeting Held
Last Night.

THREE DELEGATES WERE SEATED

Much Business Transacted, but It
Was In the Main of a Private Nature.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE PRESENT

Trades Council met in regular semi-monthly session last evening and transacted a great deal of business, but the majority of the transactions were of a private nature.

President D. M. McLane was in the chair and the attendance was unusually large. After the minutes had been approved the credential committee recommended the seating of the following delegates:

Dishmakers No. 27, Albert Wood and Everett Rose; retail grocery and butcher clerks, James S. Connell.

The Labor day picnic committee reported progress. They had not gotten affairs in shape for a complete report and the final accounting will be announced at the next meeting.

They announced that it had been decided, in view of the fact that all the prizes were left on their hands, that the bicycle races should be pulled off on Monday, September 17, in the afternoon, and the body was asked to aid in every manner possible to make the affair a success.

The grievance committee made a partial report on the progress made in the machinists' difficulties which have been hanging fire for more than a year. A full report on this matter will be made at the next meeting of the organization.

The subject of a change in the by-laws was brought up and after considerable discussion it was decided that a revision was necessary.

A committee consisting of D. M. McLane, C. W. Brownfield and George Smith, were appointed to look after the work.

Hon. E. J. Clapp, of Warren, Ohio, is an East Liverpool visitor. He was formerly a member of the house of representatives and was a warm personal friend of Hon. A. H. McCoy, deceased. Mr. Clapp will visit Comrade McCoy's last resting place, and make himself fully acquainted with the details of the sad accident which resulted in his death. While here Mr. Clapp will make his home with D. J. Smith, Mount Pisgah, and will attend to special business in connection with the soldiers' widows home, of Geauga county.

GOOSE PASTURED.

Furnished Fun for a Large Crowd
Last Night.

A well known colored barber of the city was goose pastured last night by a large crowd of colored people.

The parties that took him out

claim that he thought he was better than them and decided to see if he was a faster runner than the members of their crowd. He was taken up to the new reservoir and at a signal a gun was discharged, which scared the young man so that he started to run, and the other fellows armed with barrel staves and laying in the bushes helped him along considerably.

They claim that he did it in 2:10, as he was going so fast that he could not be seen for dust. He will feel the effects of the barrel staves for several days.

ROVERS ON DECK.

This Fine Foot Ball Team Will Again
Do Battle for Supremacy.

At the stated meeting of the association foot ball players last night the old Rovers' club was again started for the coming season.

Twenty-seven men joined the club and officers were elected as follows: Chairman, H. C. Smith; secretaries, J. Woliscraft, T. Watkins, jr.; treasurer, George Hall; board of managers, Edwin Simpson, William Wase, S. Leighton, William Pope, George Hall; captain, George Hall; vice captain, William Pope.

The club intends to have a vigorous season and expects to have a winning team in the field.

The News Review wishes this team the success it deserves. Discipline, study and practice will knock the persimmons. Legitimate sport, like unto foot ball and base ball conducted aright and on principles of fairness and justice, is commendable, and is the very essence of healthful exercise.

A NUISANCE.

Disturber from Away

Between Forest and Kossuth streets and Walnut and College street, in the alley way, there exists a dog which is a condemned nuisance to the entire neighborhood. The said canine possesses a falsetto voice, with a patent tremulo attachment, introducing a beautiful note of discord with about every other howl, and keeping the entrancing and soothing melody going continuously, by day and by night, establishing a record for perseverance and continuity. Marshal Thompson is said to be an expert with the use of the revolver at short range. The community at large will grant the marshal the privilege of practice at this music producer, and will not complain if he shatters case, chords and keys and sends the operator to the happy hunting grounds.

PETERSON-HOWARD,

Two Popular Young People of the
City Were Married Last

Byron Peterson and Miss Ida Howard were united in marriage last night at 8 o'clock by Rev. Edwin Weary at the home of J. J. Shingler on Sugar street, only the immediate friends of the family were present.

They left on the midnight train for a trip to Cleveland, Detroit and Buffalo.

The young people have a host of friends in the city who will join the News Review in wishing them much happiness.

DIXON CRUSHED BY AN ELEVATOR

Was Employed In the Warehouse
Company.

INJURIES MAY PROVE FATAL

They Are of an Internal Nature,
and Little Can Be Told at Present.

RESIDES ON LOWER JEFFERSON

Silas D. Dixon, warehouse man at the Harker pottery, met with what may prove a fatal accident yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Dixon was on the second floor and wanted to come down, but when he started the elevator it went up instead of down and he was caught between the elevator and the third floor, being pinned so tight that it was necessary to tear up the floor before he could be released.

The patrol was called and the injured man taken to the office of Dr. J. T. Elliott, but was later taken to his boarding house on Jefferson street, where an examination showed that he was injured internally, being crushed from the stomach to the shoulders.

Dixon is the son of Rev. W. W. Dixon, pastor of the Baptist church at New Matamoras, which is the young man's home.

The physician is unable to tell just how badly the man is hurt, owing to the internal injuries, and will not be able to do so for some time, as only time can develop a case of that character, but the injuries may prove of such a nature as to cause his death.

ROBERT SHON

Was Thrown from His Wheel on Fifth Street And Was Hurt.

Robert Shon got a bad fall on Fifth street Tuesday night, and although not seriously hurt, he will not be able to ride a bicycle for some time to come.

As he was passing a point near the First M. E. church some one in that vicinity started a dog after the bicycle Shon was riding, with the result that wheel, boy and dog went down in one ignominious heap on the pavement.

Bystanders seeing the boy was badly hurt hurried to his assistance and he was taken to Dr. Ogden's office nearby. An examination showed his right arm to be badly bruised, he having alighted with his full weight upon the member.

The injury is causing the boy considerable trouble.

HELP—GOD WILL REWARD YOU

"You surely will go to Agra and see the Taj Mahal before you sail?" said my companion when I informed him that we were that day to begin the last trip before our return home.

"Everybody that comes to India visits at least that," added he by way of encouragement when I shook my head negatively. We had come to see the famine fields and our time was getting short and every moment of it was mortgaged in advance up to the hour of our departure. Relief operations were of immediate and urgent importance. So we started off that night for Baroda, a city of 110,000 inhabitants, the capital of a native state of that name, arriving at 7 a. m.

The gaekwar was off on a visit to England, there to be presented to the Prince of Wales and the queen, hence there was no invitation awaiting us to visit the new and imposing princely palace, but nevertheless, on our way from the station we passed through it and admired its magnificent architecture and sumptuous modern furnishings. Strange to relate, there was not a soul to inquire into the why and wherefore of our presence. All was as quiet as the interior of a magnificent mausoleum. The garden surrounding the palace was in a fair state of cultivation, but no bird carolled its morning lay, and neither the buzz of the bee, nor the chirp of the cricket relieved the mournful monotony of the oppressive silence.

We spent a few moments inspecting the never-failing well, dug at an expense of nine lakhs of rupees, or about $300,000. We then wended our way through the narrow, dirty streets of the capital to the place where once the poor house was located; but on our arrival there we were informed that, owing to the abnormal increase in the number of its inmates, it had been removed to a more capacious quarter a mile off. Thither we directed our steps, and in due time we reached the antithesis of the gaekwar's palace. As rich as were his quarters, so destitute was the poor house. In my note book I wrote a line that reads: "This is the worst I have yet seen," and as I recall it now I marvel that I ever had the courage to pass into and through the filthy wards and more filthy yard that constituted this shocking blot on civilization.

I had become accustomed to sights nauseating and revolting, but the Baroda poor house stands out as the most terrible conglomeration of abject misery that ever met my gaze. The sun's rays penetrated my pith hat and dazed brain and eyes, while an effluvia of concentrated decomposition rendered breathing both difficult and dangerous. Almost stifled and stupefied we wended our way through the dead and the dying, with smallpox, dysentery, fever and cholera to the right and to the left, leaving terror behind us only to find horror awaiting us.

I left Baroda for the last of these letters because I was painfully conscious of the paucity of my vocabulary to do justice to the subject, and

At the entrance to the poor house stood a woman, blind. I had often seen women who had lost their sight as the result of the horrible famine, but I had never seen one who looked as did this woman. Reduced to a living skeleton, the balls of her eyes were actually decaying in the sockets of her ghastly skull, and flies innumerable were acting the part of scavengers undisturbed.

She stood bareheaded in a sun which would have been fatal to me in less time than it takes to write this incident. Her claw-like hands inactive hung down her sides until she heard our footsteps. Then they were raised appealingly in the direction of the sound, while she mumbled almost inaudibly her plaintive petition. Not realizing at first that she was blind, I walked up close to her, when another more frantic effort on her part brought her two hands in direct contact with my face.

I shuddered as I felt the cold, clammy touch, but being blind she could not see it. I quickly got beyond her reach, and then, as I supposed, unobserved, placed a rupee in her hand. In another instant a dozen other miserable remnants of humanity pressed forward, pleading vociferously for help. Just then the attendant appeared and promptly ordered them back. What might have happened but for his timely interference I dread to contemplate, as Mr. Freese and Mr. Hudson, who has since died of cholera, with my other companions had advanced more quickly and were beyond the reach of my voice.

I entered the first of many wards separated from one another by a bamboo partition. It was full of patients suffering from every manner of ailment. Cholera, dysentery and guinea-worm predominated. On some cots the unfortunates were doubled up. The temperature was torrid. The air was laden with an odor superlatively offensive. It was thick with effluvia of the vilest stamp. The cots were defiled, reeking with filth. Pain, misery, helplessness were on every hand. The agonizing groans of men and women writhing in cholera's fatal and unyielding grip were almost beyond endurance.

No attempt was made at treatment. I called for the physician. There was none. A hospital assistant with not as much knowledge of medicine as an apprentice in a pharmacy was in charge.

"How many of these people will be saved?" I asked. "They come here to die," was the stoic response. It was the abomination of desolation. I would gladly have given at that moment all that I possessed had it been in my power to afford relief even for one single hour to those whose piteous gaze between the spasms mutely appealed to the white man for the help that they vaguely longed for yet did not expect, and which he unfortunately was unable to render. Never, never shall I forget that sad experience. But what we saw in the first ward was only a specimen of all the others. We traveled from ward to ward only to repeat the same experience. Our heartstrings were wrung until the ever-present consciousness of our own utter helplessness became so oppressive that a continuation of the tour threatened to unnerve us.

We stepped out into the square skirted by the bamboo enclosure and into the brazen sun. There, before us on the ground, without shade or protection of any kind, stark naked, lay a number of women in the last throes of the cholera. Two of them were moaning piteously. They seemed unconscious, yet the contortions of their bodies indicated that they were suffering intense pain. We called an attendant and ordered him to carry the women under shelter from the burning rays.

TAKE WARNING.

A Peculiar Note of Warning, at the Hands of a Prominent Citizen.

Editor News Review—I am not an alarmist. Neither am I a cheap sensationalist. And, further, I am attending to my own business, and endeavoring to prevent a tragedy in our city. I am cognizant of the fact that a prominent citizen of East Liverpool is treading, figuratively speaking, on a smouldering volcano, and that an eruption is likely to take place at any minute, resulting, possibly, in loss of life and a shower of shame and sorrow in more than one family. I further know that the individual I refer to will read this article, and that he will know that I mean him as the person dangerously near the deadly crater. It lies with him to avoid trouble. Will he do it? I don't know. He is a sneak and a coward; but his infatuation is great and may render him reckless respecting the risk he runs. I have given him a chance. He knows me well, and he will do well for himself if he takes this warning and thus avoids the hot punishment he so richly deserves. As far as he is personally concerned, I don't care the toss of a farthing as to any punishment which might be dealt out to him; but I do care very much for those with whom he is connected.

A Number of East Liverpool Republicans Will Go There Saturday.

A movement was inaugurated last evening that will in all probability end in a large number of local Republicans going to Youngstown Saturday.

THE SILVER TRUST.

Say About Bryan in the
Year 1896.

The Chicago Chronicle is now an ardent and aggressive advocate of William Jennings Bryan. That paper must have found it profitable to enter into the service and pay of the owners of the Big Bonanzas, the greatest, most powerful and most dictatorial trust within the confines of this nation. The truth appears to be that the owners of the Big Bonanza Silver mines are now the owners and operators of the Chicago Chronicle, as that paper was a great stumbling block for William Jennings Bryan and his owners. Read very carefully what the Windy City sheet said in the year 1896:

On this question of his relations to the Silver Trust the following statement, published July 11, 1896, by his now ardent supporter, the Chicago Chronicle, will be accepted as authoritative:

"The proprietors of the Big Bonanzas have found it profitable to keep a large number of orators, lecturers and other spokesmen on the road. Among the men who have been thus employed and carried on the pay roll of the Big Bonanzas for a number of years is Wm. J. Bryan, of Nebraska. A paid agent of and spokesman for the silver combine, he has not since his retirement from congress had any other visible means of support. The richest men in the world, the proprietors of the Big Bonanzas, hire orators like Bryan exactly as other wealthy men hire fiddlers, and value them about as highly. Silver orators, like fiddlers, come in at the back doors of the Big Bonanzas and eat at the servants' table. Since he holds that relationship to the Big Bonanzas, Wm. J. Bryan's nomination by their order, and as a result of the free use of their money, becomes an insult to the American people of no small proportions."

And are endorsed by East Liverpool citizens.

Mr. Henry Bevington, who resides at the corner of Avondale and Broadway avenue, says: "During three years I had attacks of dull, steady aching in the back. When stooping or sitting for some time it would change to a quick pang as I arose to an upright position. My back tired out easily when walking or standing long, and I often had headaches, dizziness and in the morning great depression. I took medicines, many of them, but found Doan's Kidney Pills, sold at the W. & W. pharmacy, to be more suitable for my complaint than anything I ever tried."

Fatherless.

There's something about the little black dress that touches a man in a very tender spot. He pats the little one on the head, puts some pennies in her hand, swallows hard and then starts out to make his own children fatherless. There is no doubt that many a man is taken from his family by neglect of simple precautions which would preserve his health. Disease generally begins nowadays in "stomach trouble" because the meals are hasty and the food not digested. From that beginning come disorders of the blood, liver, kidneys, heart or nerves. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition will avert the catastrophe of more serious disease. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, nourishes the nerves, and builds men up in both brain and body.

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Discovery" where a laxative is required.

VERDICT FOR THE PLAINTIFF

In the Case of Frank McCoy Versus
Ed. Cook In McCarron's
Court

$2.67 THE AMOUNT INVOLVED

Tried to a Jury and as Much Importance Attached as Though

VERDICT QUICKLY RETURNED

The case of Frank McCoy versus Ed Cook was tried to a jury in Justice McCarron's court last night. Plaintiff asked judgment in the sum of $2 67, a balance due as wages, and the jury, which was composed of Messrs. R. B. Watson, John W. Hall, George Adam, Frank Allen, Charles McPherson and M. E. Miskall, were some time in getting together, but finally at 8 o'clock the case was begun.

Attorney H. E. Grosshans appeared for plaintiff and W. S. Cook represented his father. Plaintiff testified in his own behalf and was the only witness presented on that side. He was somewhat embarrassed and told his story in a jerky way, but managed to get through with it in fairly good shape. He had worked for the Cooks early in August and at that time received $1 75 a day. At that time he worked four days and was laid off for about two weeks. At the end of that time he was given employment again, and it was on this occasion that the dispute arose.

When McCoy received his pay on this occasion he found that he had been paid at the rate of but $1 50 per day. He had never had an understanding as to the wages he was to receive, but supposed there would be no difference in the pay from that received on the occasion of his first employment by the firm.

The plaintiff complained that his pay was not right, and was told to come to Cook's house and have it fixed up. He did this and made two visits to the Cook residence, but got no satisfaction and entered suit.

Ed Cook, Ed Johnson (colored), William Gaven and Bill Kell were sworn for the defense and all testified along the line of wages paid for the different classes of work, showing that scarcely two men engaged at common labor received the same pay.

The defense also showed by their witnesses that their pay day was every two weeks and that the employees of the firm received pay up till Friday night of the week upon which pay day occurred.

McCoy had been wheeling brick the first time he had been working for the Cooks, and upon the second occasion he had performed labor of a common character, hence the difference in the pay.

The case was given to the jury at 8:50 and at 9:50 a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff.

THEN AND NOW.

Adlai Stevenson, Bryan's Running Mate, Declared for Sound And Honest Money.

When Adlai Stevenson, Bryan's running mate, was on the presidential ticket with Grover Cleveland he was a sound money man.

So far he has not presented to the public any reasons for a change to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and a grave suspicion is being aroused that he is playing a confidence game on the confiding Populists and free silver Republicans.

Here is what he said in his letter of acceptance of the vice presidential nomination eight years ago:

"To the plain and unequivocal declaration of the convention in favor of sound, honest money I subscribe without reservation or qualification. A safe circulating medium is absolutely essential to the protection of the business interests of our country, while it is all-important that every dollar, whatever its form, that finds its way into his pocket shall be of equal, unquestioned and universally exchangeable value and of equal purchasing power."

Via Pennsylvania Lines, Account the Exposition.

The dates on which excursion tickets to Pittsburgh will be sold via Pennsylvania Lines this year, account the Exposition are as follows: Thursdays, September, 6, 13, 20 and 27, and October 4, 11 and 18. The rate will be single fare for round trip, plus 25 cents to cover admission coupon to the Exposition.

Excursion tickets will be sold at that rate from Dennison, Ohio; Cadiz, Ohio; Chester, W. Va.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Washington, Pa. and intermediate ticket stations on the Southwest system; and from Massillon, O.; Ash-tabula, O.; Erie, Pa.; Stoneboro, Pa.; New Philadelphia, O.; Powhatan, O., and intermediate ticket stations on the Northwest system. Excursion tickets, including admission to the Exposition, will not be sold for less than 75 cents.

The return limit on all tickets will be three days, including date of sale.

The Pittsburgh Exposition will be greater and grander this season than ever before. The popular features of former years will be retained, and many new ones will be added, including A Day in the Alps; Jim Key, the marvelous Educated Horse; A Crystal Maze; A Mexican Village; special exhibits of the products of the entire world from the Philadelphia Commercial Museum.

Music will be furnished by the world's leading musical organizations. The famous Banda Rossa, Italy's greatest musical organization, will appear at the Exposition Sept. 5 to 15; Emil Paur, with the New York Metropolitan Opera House orchestra, will be here Sept. 17 to 22; Damrosch's New York Symphony orchestra of 50 pieces will be the musical attraction Oct. 1 to Oct. 13; Sousa and his great band, direct from triumphs in Europe, will fill two engagements at the Expo., the first from Sept. 24 to Sept. 29 and the second from Oct. 15 to Oct. 20, closing the Exposition on the latter date.

Information concerning tickets, rates, time of trains, etc., will be furnished upon application to Pennsylvania Line ticket agents in territory mentioned.

BUCKEYE VOTERS.

Every Voter in Ohio Should Refer Back to Bryan's Statements in 1896.

It is something of a puzzle to understand how any sensible honest Ohio citizen can conscientiously support Bryan this year when his speeches of four years ago are compared with his present utterances. The parallel is deadly, and a study of his statements made in 1896 show quite clearly that they were made for the then present effect; that he hoped and expected to be elected on them and had no idea of being called upon four years later to explain them. In other words, they were made for the sake of expediency.

The outlook is that Mr. Bryan will find that the masses read, closely and attentively, and that his past record and sayings have been weighed in the balance of justice and right, and found to be utterly lacking.

Credo—Confido.

It is the fashion with many to despise creeds as illiberal and a mark of narrowness in mind and spirit in those who hold to them. It seems so much broader and more cultured to refuse all such restrictions to thought. But there is a deal of arrant conceit and nonsense under it all. These professions of liberality cover quite frequently the utmost bigotry and lack of liberality.

All thinking persons must have some opinions and beliefs on the great basal truths of religion. They view God in some manner and hold some ideas of Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, the nature of the human soul, its capacities, duties and destiny, the nature and mission of the church and the Bible.

It resolves itself into this—whether it is nobler, more reasonable and helpful to say, "I don't believe this, that and the other," which men have for ages, after deepest search and severest testing, found to stand the test of adequacy, or to recognize such facts as rational and worthy to be used as a working basis of daily life and to say, "I believe—Credo."

Incredulity never led to strong, sustained and noble effort. "I believe and I confide in Jesus Christ" has been the keynote of all heroic endeavor for ages. Confidence in God and the ascertained facts of religious consciousness are marks of greater breadth and depth in culture than all the popular doubts of erratic though brilliant discreditors of creeds.

Find some solid rock for your foundation. If it is not on the surface, then dig for it, but find it. No life can be reared substantially on the sand of "I don't know." Bedrock of "I believe, I confide," alone can give firm basis for life work.

The Luxury of Life.

It does not consist in the abundance of things which surround one. Elegance in architecture and finishings does not constitute a home. Richness and abundance of viands cannot make a feast. Companionship is the essential element, without which life loses its attractiveness. Persons and not things make existence desirable. The luxury of life is love. With it all material things assume significance and worth, as they bear the impress of personality, speaking through them to our inner thought and feeling. Friends and friendship make up our future good.

HOME INDUSTRY.

If you desire that the city in which you live and labor shall flourish, demonstrate your desire in a practical, common sense manner, by patronizing home industries.

ARE YOU?

Are you reasonably prosperous? Are you well clothed and bountifully fed? If so, then remember the hungry and starving men, women and children in India, and spare a little of your plenty. If you are composed of the stuff of which genuine manhood and womanhood is formed, you will have rich reward.

LABOR DAY.

Look at this clipping from the Pittsburg Dispatch, under date of September 4. Draw your own conclusions and apply your own ideas:

"Why should not the saloons close on Labor day as well as the other mercantile establishments?"

VERMONT.

Vermont Republicans stand in favor of the prohibitory law. Vermont Democrats stand in favor of the repeal of the prohibitory law. Of a truth, Republicanism must have a strong place in the very center of the hearts of the citizens of Vermont.

SCHURZ CALLED DOWN.

Secretary Gage makes Carl Schurz look very small in his reply to that noted "flopper" in the political arena, using Schurz's own words of 1896 to chastise him with. Schurz then said of Bryan:

"The mere apprehension of a possibility of Mr. Bryan's election, and of the consequent placing of our country upon a silver basis, has already caused untold millions of our securities to be thrown upon the market."

Schurz certainly acts as if he were now on the pay roll of the silver kings.

BRYAN'S TRAVELS.

Bryan will learn much that will interest him as he canvasses the land on his present political tour. If he is an honest man, he will mentally admit that this country is in a wonderfully prosperous condition, under a Republican administration and under the blessing of a protective tariff, evolved and introduced and had enacted into law by one William McKinley, soldier, statesman and president of the United States, sure to succeed himself in his present berth in case he remains on duty on this earth, by and through the ballots of a well pleased and prosperous people.

OUR CURRENCY.

The gold standard of the Republican party has made this great nation prosperous. We have the respect and confidence of the financial world. The outlook is for four years more of prosperity under Republican rule. Why should any sane human being, business, professional or workingman, desire to change the solid fact and reality of prosperity, based on a sound currency, worth one hundred cents on the dollar in any market in the civilized world, for a plausible theory, based on wind, with the possibility of a currency commanding 50 cents on the dollar in this country, and next to worthless in the financial centers of foreign nations?

WHOSE OX.

Whose ox was gored at the Kansas City Democratic convention? That body declared "an increasing warfare in nation, state and city against private monopoly in every form." Funny and laughable, is it not, when you take into consideration the fact that Augustus Van Wyck, the New York member of the platform committee, and supposed to be the party who wrote the peculiar platform article, is one of the largest stockholders in the Tammany Ice Trust of New York, which the leading Democratic newspapers of New York city recently described as "a conspiracy to coin fever and thirst into dividends." This trust was organized by leading Democratic politicians. The monopoly had been an outrageous one; but the stockholders determined to still further bleed the consumers of this article absolutely necessary to the comfort of hundreds of thousands of thirsty citizens. Ice was advanced from $1 to $1 50 per ton in delivery wagons, to $3 and $4 a ton to wholesale customers, and 60 cents per hundred pounds, or at the rate of $12 a ton (double the price of coal) to small consumers. At the same time this cormorant monopoly declared that no sales of ice in "five cent pieces" would be permitted, thus virtually depriving the poor, unable to purchase in greater quantities, of this luxury of luxuries in the hot and sultry season. Public opinion, however, always a mighty power when fully aroused, threatened the robber gang, and they were forced to recede from this last outrage, but insulted the poorer classes by compelling them to admit that they were not able to purchase more than five cents' worth of ice at a time. And this same mean and contemptible Democratic monopoly forced New Yorkers to pay these exorbitant prices, while ice was furnished to consumers at Savannah, Georgia, at the rate of five cents per 50 pounds. The stockholders in this monopoly are Democratic politicians, from Mayor Van Wyck and Boss Dick Croker, along the line of Democratic judges, park commissioners, dock commissioners, delegates and committeemen to the Kansas City convention, and a lot of lesser fry, Democrats all. Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel. The cry of "trusts" is surely a great "frost" on the part of the Democracy.

CONFERENCE HELD.

Pittsburg Capitalists After Salem
Electric Railway—Sebring
Route Inspected.

Salem Herald.

H. W. Klein, S. G. Pauline and Simon Harold, the parties who allege that the Alliance, Sebring & Salem electric railway will now be constructed, were in the city last evening conferring with D. L. Davis, superintendent of the Salem Electric company.

Just what the object of the conference was is not plain, as the gentlemen themselves refused to talk, and Mr. Davis left last evening for Ithaca, N. Y., hence could not be interviewed.

However, it is had on good authority that the object of the conference was the securing of another option on the local road with determined purpose to purchase the same together with the light plant and power house.

Before leaving for Pittsburg last evening, Mr. Klein stated to a Herald representative that he had secured what he was after.

Simon Harold, the contractor who will construct the road, was in the city over night and today drove over the proposed route between this city and Alliance. While in this city yesterday the promoters stated positively that the road would be constructed and that work would commence in a few days.

MAKES US SMILE.

And the Workingmen of the Nation
President.

"Vote for Bryan and save the nation," says the esteemed Cincinnati Enquirer. Yes, save the nation from a continuance of unparalleled prosperity, with smoking factories, busy laborers, higher wages, better farm prices and ample government revenues; and, for gracious' sake, give us back the good old Democratic times of '96, with a million or two men out of employment or working half time, low farm prices, an empty government treasury and a monthly deficit. Unquestionably the Enquirer and its kind "view with alarm" the prospective four years more of Republican prosperity.

PAT MOONEY IN DURANCE VILE

He Was Run In by Officer Dawson and Is Still In Jail.

DETECTIVE SCHIFFLER IN TOWN

He In Company With the Local Authorities Will Watch the Horn Switch.

WANTED TO BE ARRESTED

One solitary unfortunate was gathered in last night and the credit belongs to Officer Dawson.

Pat Mooney is charged with being drunk and disorderly. He was too drunk for a hearing this morning and the mayor will attend to his case this evening.

Mayor Davidson met a colored man in the vicinity of the Diamond at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon who begged to be taken to jail. He went to city hall with the mayor, and upon arriving there questioned the chief executive as to the best and quickest way to get to the workhouse. He wanted to commit some sort of crime in order that he might be sent to the works.

It seems that the fellow had been drinking heavily and was run down, scarcely knowing what he said or did. He was allowed to take up his quarters in the jail proper and remained there for a short time, but finally got over into the ladies' quarters, where he laid down and took a sleep.

This morning he had partially recovered from the effects of his spree and was turned loose.

Detective Nick Schiffler was in town today, and in conjunction with the local police department have determined to put a stop to the depredations along the Horn switch in the vicinity of East and West Market streets. There is a crowd of about 25 or 30 loafers who make this their regular stamping ground, and the residents of that section of the city are annoyed almost beyond endurance.

The authorities say if people who have cars standing on the switch at that point would lock the cars on Saturday nights especially, there would be less annoyance and an effort will be made to bring this about.

A NEW SONG

Has Been Issued by Local Parties And Dedicated to a Liverpool Party.

Another new song has just been issued by E. B. Orr, of this city. The music was arranged by J. M. Orr, who has become one of the foremost authors.

The name of the new publication is "He Loved Her, Yet He Never Told Her So." The piece is very pretty and will undoubtedly have a large circulation.

The song is dedicated to Reese Prosser, and upon the title page contains an excellent likeness of Miss Myrtle Headley, a well known young lady of this city.

EAST END.

Two Weddings.

East End has just had two weddings. Mason Reed and Miss Emma Anderson, both residents of East End, were quietly married last night at the bride's home on High street. Squire Rose united them in the bonds of matrimony. After the ceremony some of the friends of the young couple gave them a very delightful serenade. They have gone to housekeeping on High street.

Samuel Russell and Miss Mary Coburn, of St. Clair township, were married by Rev. Orcutt, of the Second M. E. church, at his home on Fourth street. The bride is well known in East Liverpool and in East End, being the daughter of Dr. Coburn, who resided both in the city and East End for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Russell have gone to their future home in St. Clair township.

The parties were married by Justice J. N. Rose at his residence at 8:30 last evening.

Important Meeting.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Second Presbyterian church had a business meeting last night, and elected officers. The officers elected were as follows:

They also appointed the chairmen of their committees as follows:

Prayer meeting, James Noah; lookout, Ethel McCain; social, Alice Allabaugh; calling, Miss Lizzie Beal; missionary, Miss Francis Moore; music, Rev. Crowe; flowers, Mrs. Young.

They will have another meeting Friday to complete the committees and make arrangements for the convention.

Returned Home.

Mesdames Swartz and Sax, of Wheeling, who were the guests of Mrs. King, of Ohio avenue, have returned to their homes.

Clark is Better.

McKinley Clark, the man who had his feet scalded at the car barns some time ago, has returned to his home in Bolivar, as the doctor says he will be disabled for some time yet.

Another Stray Animal.

Returned to Bellaire.

Tom Dawson and family, of Bellaire, who have been visiting at the home of Frank Allabaugh, have returned to their home.

Not Yet Completed.

SOUTH SIDE.

That Southside Fight.

The case of Eugene Campbell versus Mrs. Frank and her daughter Carrie was heard yesterday before Justice Johnson, of Chester.

The plaintiff claimed that the only reason he could assign for the action of the Franks was the fact that he had remarked on the quality of some of the food which had been provided for supper. He displayed the wound in the head and thought he had made a mistake in placing the charge, as he should have accused them of assault with intent to kill.

The Franks on the other hand allege they were grossly insulted by Campbell and were perfectly justified in acting as they did.

The justice came to the conclusion when the evidence was all in that the parties were about equally guilty and so found.

Campbell was fined $7, Mrs. Frank $6 and her daughter $5. The citizens of Chester are endeavoring to raise by popular subscription an amount sufficient to pay the fines of the women.

A Failure.

The Atlantic City Electric Light company have put in lighting apparatus in Rock Springs pavilion and cafe. Last night the power was turned on and did beautifully for about an hour, when the power gave out and there was no more dancing for that evening. It has been fixed all right since, however.

Paving Completed.

Main street is paved all the way between the two potteries, and the street gang are terracing in front of the new houses which will soon be completed.

Completed Today.

The new reservoir is finished. It is to hold two million gallons of water. Workmen are doing the concreting at the pump house, which will soon be completed.

First-Class Hostelry.

The new hotel is being fitted up with two car loads of new furniture, and will be ready for occupancy in about a week.

Personals.

About two hundred people from Bowerstown are enjoying the day at Rock Springs.

Miss Catherine Baird, of Steubenville, who has been visiting in Chester, drove home yesterday accompanied by her friend, Miss Clara Stewart.

Harold Mason, who used to be in the shoe business in East Liverpool, is in Chester. He is traveling for an eastern shoe house and makes his home in Columbus.

A DEAL.

In Real Estate Was Made Saturday Which May Mean a Great Deal.

M. E. Golding last Saturday purchased from Geo. H. Owen & Co. a portion of the old Croxall lot, situated at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets.

The land is in the rear of the Pottery National bank building, faces on Fifth street and is 20x30 feet.

Mr. Golding would not say what the land would be used for; consideration $2,000.

There are several rumors as to the disposition to be made of the new purchase, and it may mean nothing and it may mean a great deal.

A Cruel Joke.

A Yale Summit girl recently played a cruel joke on her mother, and this is how it happened: She accidentally found a love letter that her father had written to her mother in the halycon days of their courtship. She read the letter to her mother, substituting her own name and that of her lover. The mother raved with anger and stamped her foot in disgust, forbidding her daughter to have anything to do with a man who would write such nonsensical stuff to a girl. The girl then gave the letter to her mother to read, and the house became so suddenly quiet that she could hear the cat winking in the back yard.—Salisbury Press.

—Mrs. John Brindley left this morning for Cincinnati, where she will spend six weeks.

Napoleon and the Roman Law.

Napoleon I had an extraordinary mind. He appeared never to forget anything he cared to remember and assimilated information as the stomach assimilates food, retaining only the valuable. An incident will illustrate this remarkable quality of his mind.

When forming the "Code Napoleon," he frequently astonished the council of state by the skill with which he illustrated an point in discussion by quoting whose passages from memory of the Roman civil law. The council wondered how a man whose life had been passed in camp came to know so much about the old Roman laws. Finally one of them asked him how he acquired his knowledge.

"When I was a lieutenant," Napoleon replied, "I was unjustly placed under arrest. My small prison room contained no furniture except an old chair and a cupboard. In the latter was a ponderous volume, which proved to be a digest of the Roman law. You can easily imagine what a valuable prize the book was to me. It was so bulky and the leaves were so covered with marginal notes in manuscript that had I been confined 100 years I need never have been idle. When I recovered my liberty at the end of ten days, I was saturated with Justinian and the decisions of the Roman legislation. It was then I acquired my knowledge of the civil law."

An Impudent Fraud.

An impudent fraud was perpetrated upon a Manchester bank by one of its customers, who opened an account with some few hundreds of pounds. The man, after a few weeks, drew two checks, each within a pound or so of his balance, and, selecting a busy day, presented himself at one end of the counter, while an accomplice, when he saw that his friend's check had been cashed, immediately presented his own to a cashier at the other end. Both cashiers referred the checks to the ledger clerk, who, thinking the same cashier had asked him twice, said "right" to both checks. The thieves were never caught.

NATIONS WILL AGREE.

NEGOTIATIONS STILL INCOMPLETE.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Within the last 24 hours the United States government has received from its representatives at foreign capitals much material information in regard to the attitude of the powers on the Russian proposal to evacuate Peking. These give the general nature of the responses made to Russia by certain of the powers. It is stated authoritatively that if there was at any time a prospect of a serious international clash this has been very largely, if not entirely, removed by the harmonious character of the communications the several governments are making.

The exact nature of the responses is not made public by the state department, for there are yet some replies to be transmitted and until all of them are in negotiations are considered in such an incomplete form that they will not be made public. It is said, however, that the answers go much beyond the tentative character of those heretofore referred to, and are of a conclusive nature, so far as showing the purposes of the governments, although they may not be regarded as conclusive in accepting or rejecting the particular proposition advanced by Russia.

The responses are understood to be rather long and somewhat argumentative, similar in this respect to the American response. This very fact is a cause for congratulation among officials, as they point out that there is no disposition to treat the proposal with terseness or in any manner to give offense, but rather to bring the powers together on a common basis. On the whole, the general tendency of the responses is such as to give entire satisfaction here as to the course of the negotiations.

Negotiations Progressing Satisfactorily.

The satisfactory progress of the negotiations along these lines has had the effect of directing attention to the personality of the envoys who probably will represent the powers and China in the final settlement. The impression prevails here that Mr. Conger is eminently fitted for such a task on the part of the United States, supposing that each of the powers interested in the Chinese problem is to have a separate and individual representative.

Mr. Rockhill's name is mentioned as an alternate in case Mr. Conger does not care to remain in Peking, or to participate in the settlement. These suggestions, however, are all speculative, for up to this time the state department has not conferred the necessary special powers upon any person to represent the government in the final negotiations.

If the present state of affairs in China is protracted until the arrival there of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee, which should occur in about ten days or a fortnight, it is not to be doubted that the government of Germany will endeavor to have all the negotiations with the Chinese government conducted through that official as a representative, not of Germany alone, but of all the powers.

A Move For Combined Action

It is gathered that strong arguments will be advanced to support the advisability of combined action through one agency in this manner as the best means of securing a speedy and generally satisfactory termination of the Chinese trouble. In fact, it will be urged that there is little hope for an early adjustment of the differences between the powers and China if each of the powers is to lay down an independent proposition, the cumulative effect of which, particularly in the case of money or territorial indemnities, might be absolutely crushing to the Chinese empire.

If there is any change in the military situation since General Chaffee's dispatch, supposed to be of the 30th ult., no word of it has reached Washington. It is understood that disturbances and outrages upon missionaries continue in some of the districts outside of Peking. It is believed here, possibly because of these reports, that the foreign ministers in Peking probably will enter an earnest objection to any withdrawal of troops if their respective governments delay action upon the Russian proposition until they have had a chance to express their views.

tions, and quite a number of messages have passed between Washington and Berlin. Those persons most likely to have a correct understanding of Germany's attitude look for the suggestion of a compromise, or middle course, which will be neither an acceptance nor a rejection of the Russian proposal, but will be such a satisfactory middle ground that all the powers, including Russia, can agree to it.

LADYBRAND SIEGE RAISED.

Reinforcements Cause Boers to Retire Grobler Negotiating For Surrender.

Cape Town, Sept. 6.—Reports received from Ladybrand, in the Orange Free State, near the Basutoland border, say the Boers who have been besieging the garrison of 150 men for some days are returning. On Monday the 2,000 Boers who surrounded the town used their nine guns all day without result. Tuesday morning the Boers renewed the attack with small arm fire, but later this fire ceased, and the Boers retired, presumably in the face of the arrival of reinforcements.

Pretoria, Sept. 6.—Commandant Grobler, who has been operating with Oliver, the Boer leader recently captured by the British, is negotiating with the British with a view of surrendering his force. He asks for equal treatment for a few of his followers who fought after taking the oath of allegiance to the British.

DEMISE OF ARTHUR SEWALL.

Was Candidate For Vice President In 1896—Large Shipowner.

Bath, Me., Sept. 6.—The Hon. Arthur Sewall died at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday at his summer home, Smae Point about 12 miles from this city, of apoplexy, the stroke having been sustained last Sunday.

Mr. Sewall was born in Bath, Me. in 1835. He was one of the largest shipowners in New England states director of several railroads and banks and interested in several other enterprises. He was an ardent Democrat and for several years a member of the national committee of his party. In 1896 Mr. Sewall was on the Democratic ticket as a candidate for vice president.

RETURNS NEARLY ALL IN.

Vermont Shows a Republican Loss and a Democratic Gain.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 6.—Returns from 232 cities and towns out of 246 cities and towns in the state give the vote for governor as follows: Stickney, Rep., 46,934; Senter, Dem., 15,494; all others, 1,268. The same towns in 1896 gave Grout, Rep., 52,029; Jackson, Dem., 14,556; all others, 1,589.

The returns from these towns give a Republican plurality of 31,430 and a majority of 30,172. The Republican loss is 9 per cent and the Democratic gain 15 per cent.

MR. CARNEGIE'S STATEMENT.

He Denounces Recent Reports of Misunderstanding in His Steel Company.

London, Sept. 6.—Andrew Carnegie has sent the following telegram in answer to the reports of friction in the great steel company of which he is the head:

"There is not one particle of truth in reports of friction in the Carnegie company. On the contrary, the company's affairs were never more harmonious in all its history."

What the Census Figures Show.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Officials returns show the population of Akron, O., to be 43,728; gain last ten years of 67.16 per cent. Lancaster, Pa., 41,459; gain, 24.22 per cent. Birmingham, Ala., 38,415; gain, 46.75. Canton, O., 30,667; gain, 17.10 per cent. Dayton, O., 35,333; gain, 39.39 per cent. Albany, N. Y., 94,151; decrease, .81 per cent. Bayonne, N. J., 32,722; gain, 71.92 per cent. Salt Lake City, Utah, 53,531; gain, 19.37 per cent.

Daughter's Testimony Against Father.

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—In the trial of Thomas J. Rohland, for killing his wife, at West Newton, his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Markle, told her story amid tears and sobs. She saw her mother murdered and told of months of family infelicity and threats. She testified also that she once heard her father say to her mother that they would both die together.

President to Attend His Niece's Wedding.

Washington, Sept. 6.—President and Mrs. McKinley will leave here either Monday or Tuesday for Somerset, Pa., to attend the wedding of Miss Mabel McKinley and Dr. Baer. The trip to Somerset will be made by daylight. Immediately after the ceremony they will depart for Canton to remain some days.

No New Cases of Bubonic Plague.

THE NATIONAL PARTY

PLATFORM IS SHORT AND SWEET.

It Declares For Renunciation of Colonial Pretensions, the Single Gold Standard, Public Service Based on Merit, and the Abolition of All Special Privileges.

New York, Sept. 6.—The National party—the official name of the third party—met in convention yesterday in Carnegie hall, this city, and nominated candidates for president and vice president of the United States. A platform was adopted and a title and emblem chosen. These are its candidates:

For president, Donaldson Caffrey, of Louisiana.

For vice president, Archibald Murray Howe, of Cambridge, Mass.

There were no other candidates for the positions and the nominations were received with hearty applause. The platform adopted says:

"The citizens of the United States of America, assembled for the purpose of defending the wise and conservative principles which under our government, thus declare our aims and purposes:

"We find our country threatened with alternative perils. On the one hand is a public opinion misled by organized forces of commercialism that have perverted a war intended by the people to be a war of humanity into a war of conquest. On the other hand is a public opinion swayed by demagogic appeals to factional and class passions, the most fatal diseases to a republic. We believe that either of these influences, if unchecked, would ultimately compass the downfall of our country, but we also believe that neither represents the sober conviction of our countrymen.

"Convinced that the extension of the jurisdiction of the United States for the purpose of holding foreign people as colonial dependencies is an innovation dangerous to our liberties and repugnant to the principles upon which our government is founded, we pledge our efforts through all constitutional means—

"First—To procure the renunciation of all imperial colonial pretensions with regard to foreign countries claimed to have been acquired through or in consequence of military or naval operations of the last two years.

"Second—We further pledge our efforts to secure a single gold standard and a sound banking system.

"Third—To secure a public service based on merit only.

"Fourth—To secure the abolition of all corrupting special privileges, whether under the guise of subsidies, bounties, undeserved pensions or trust-breeding tariffs."

The convention was called to order by Thomas M. Osborne, of Auburn, N. Y., who presided at the Indianapolis preliminary meeting a month ago. Everett Abbott was secretary. There was no roll call. All the delegates were volunteers who had replied by their presence to the invitation issued to all persons in sympathy with the objects of the party.

Chairman Osborne's speech in calling the meeting to order followed the lines which are expressed in the platform. Speeches were also made by John Jay Chapman and Archibald Murray Howe.

It was decided that the party be known as a national party and that its emblem be the statue of liberty on the capitol dome at Washington.

A resolution was passed instructing the campaign committee, when it shall be appointed, to provide pasters for voters who wish to cross out any name on the Democratic or Republican electoral ticket, the paster to have on it the name of some citizen known to stand for "peace, liberty and sound money." This is to be done in any state in which the committee finds such a movement is practical.

Mr. Bryan in the Mountain State.

Deer Park, Md., Sept. 6.—Mr. Bryan addressed two large meetings—one at Morgan's grove, Sheperdstown, W. Va., and at Keyser, W. Va. At both places the crowds greeted the national candidate with enthusiasm and both speeches were vigorously applauded as point after point was made. There were large audiences at both meetings, but that of the grove was exceptional in size.

Ohio Democrats Make a Nomination.

of Canton. The district has been carried but twice by the Democrats in the last quarter of a century.

New York State Republican Ticket.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 6.—B. B. Odell, for governor, and Timothy L. Woodruff, for lieutenant governor, is the Republican state ticket that has been nominated. Ex-Governor Black nominated the former and Chauncey Depew the latter. A complete state ticket was put in the field.

Republicans Open Indiana Campaign.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—Senator Fairbanks opened the Republican campaign here in a long speech at the opera house. Governor Roosevelt, of New York; Senator Burrows, of Michigan; Corporal Tanner, of New York, and other prominent Republicans will soon enter the state.

West Virginia Democrats Nominated.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 6.—The Democratic convention to nominate delegates to the legislature from the district composed of Jefferson, Berkeley and Morgan named Hon. H. S. Cushman, of this city, and Ross M. Fisher, of Berkeley Springs.

New York, Sept. 6.—By contrast with the recent dead level of apathy Wednesday's trading in stocks seemed like positive animation. The aggregate of dealings was considerably larger than for some time past, and the total was not made up with an overwhelming preponderance of trading in one or two stocks. Sugar, People's Gas and Brooklyn Transit all continued fairly prominent, but there was a marked increase of interest in railroad stocks and the number of shares of some of the individual railroads dealt in compared favorably with the totals in the speculative favorites among the industrials. There was a peculiar irregularity of movement in the specialties. Sugar, as a rule, moving up, while People's Gas was going down and Sugar reacting as People's Gas recovered. Both stocks were largely dealt in both above and below Tuesday night's level. There was strenuous support in Sugar at the opening, and the 4,000 shares thrown upon the market were taken at prices running from 123 to 122½, compared with 122½ Tuesday night. Friends of the stock were evidently in doubt how the dividend declaration of 1½ per cent for the quarter would be accepted, as the stock was rushed up Tuesday on the supposition that the dividend would be 2 per cent or more. Encouraged by powerful support, the stock was pushed up at one time to 123½, but it turned heavy during the latter part of the day and closed with a net loss of 1½. People's Gas, on the other hand, was weak in the early dealings on continued reports of extreme measures contemplated in the Chicago gas war. The stock touched 91, but rallied 2 points and closed with a net gain of ½.

There was early strength in some of the iron and steel stocks, but they sagged away in the late dealings, seemingly under the apprehension that today's trade reviews might have something unfavorable to say. The cause of the rise in the railroad stocks was not very clear, but there was a manifest accession of confidence on the part of the bulls. Dealings were largely professional, but there was buying on a large scale in a number of stocks, individual transactions running up to 2,000 shares in some cases.

Chicago Grain and Provisions.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—An improved export demand was the main support to a dull and generally weak wheat market Wednesday. October closed ¼¢ under yesterday. Corn closed ¼¢ lower, and oats ¼¢ higher. Provision closed a shade to 7½¢ lower.

EVENTS BRIEFLY NARRATED.

Butler county fair is open. Minnesota Democrats and Populists will fuse.

Pugilist Fitzsimmons, of New York, will make Chicago his home.

Smethport Electric street railway, Smethport, Pa., chartered; capital, $12,000.

John C. Bain has been appointed postmaster at Lawsonham, Clarion county, Pa.

Between 500 and 600 of the McDonald family held a reunion at Alliquippa, below Pittsburgh.

Holbrook Mann, a New Jersey boy, who broke his neck recently, is still alive and reported better.

Scranton Prohibitionists claim President McKinley is "chummy" with big brewers and distillers.

Mrs. Caroline Mavor, a London, England, barmaid, has recovered $20,000 in a breach of promise suit.

While at play at Greensburg, Pa., Lizzie Sajuli, aged 8, shot Dominic Wion, aged 6. The boy will die.

An Editor Found Dead In Bed.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 6.—Marion Stuart Cann, aged 41 years, at one time editor of the Birmingham Age Herald, and later city editor of the Louisville Courier Journal, afterward filling similar positions in the Republican and Truth, this city, was found dead in bed by his mother. He died from heart failure.

Ohio Beer Brewers and the War Tax.

Toledo, O., Sept. 6.—The Ohio Association of Brewers is holding its annual session in Toledo. The meeting promises to be one of great importance, as the manufacturers of beer all over Ohio will attempt to devise some way by which they can escape payment of the additional war revenue tax on beer.

A $50,000 Case at Uniontown Non-Suited.

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 6.—The case of Isadore L. Coffman against the Fayette Gas Fuel company has been non-suited by Judge Umbel. Coffman claimed $50,000 damages for injuries sustained in an explosion at the company's regulator house, alleging that the explosion resulted from leaking gas.

Moderator For C. P. Synod.

Two New Trolley Lines at Canton.

Canton, O., Sept. 6.—Applications have been made to the county commissioners for a franchise over the public highways for the construction and maintenance of electric railways between Canton and Alliance and between Canton and Akron.

Big Money From the Far North.

San Francisco, Sept. 6.—The steamer Umetilla has arrived from the north, bringing about $1,500,000 in treasure from the Klondike and Douglas island and a few nuggets from Nome. The passengers from Nome all tell stories of hard luck.

PEOPLE QUIET.

Present Political Situation, and That Four Years Ago.

Detroit Abendpost, a Leading German Paper, on the Contrast.

WHY THE COUNTRY IS SO QUIET

Apostle From the West, Preaching the Free Silver Doctrine, Can Find No Enthusiastic Following Outside of the Minority Which Supported Him Four Years Ago.

A comparison of the national campaign during the month of August, 1900, with the conditions prevalent during August, 1896, immediately brings to one's attention one great difference. At that time all was excitement; and even as early as the harvest month political speeches were held everywhere, speakers traveled about, and wherever one showed himself, no matter what his abilities were, he was immediately surrounded by a crowd of attentive listeners, eager to learn more and more about the new mystery. There was great excitement in the whole north of the United States.

The country was passing through a great financial, commercial and industrial crisis. Hundreds of thousands of strong men, willing to work and ready to work, could not find employment, for factories were closed down, business was at a standstill, and even railroads had curtailed their operations, as the number of passengers and the volume of freight were decreasing from month to month. Those were bad days for the rich United States. We had just had four years of Democratic administration.

And in those sad days there came from the far west an apostle, the man of the "cross of gold and the crown of thorns," the man from Nebraska, the great orator, who, on account of his forcible oratorical ability, secured the presidential nomination and preached free silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, declaring that scarcity of the circulating medium was alone to blame for the hard times and distress. As soon as this scarcity would be removed, the conditions in this country would improve, happiness and prosperity would again come to our suffering country, which was brought to the brink of the abyss by that financial system which gives every dollar its full value, and makes it equally valuable in every part of the world; and that our country would go to perdition unless that system were changed and free silver substituted.

Hundreds of thousands, yea, even millions, applauded. The new doctrine found many believers among the suffering laboring men and the hard-pressed farmers, and wherever the apostle of the new doctrine appeared, great ovations met him. His speaking tour through the whole country was like a grand triumphant march, and an almost furious excitement possessed the people, who saw their salvation in the new doctrine.

However, this doctrine, which it was difficult to clothe in an old garment by calling it the "dollar of our fathers," did not wait long for opposition. The danger which a less valuable circulating medium would prove to our country, especially also in view of our foreign trade, amounting to almost $2,000,000,000, was only too clear to every sensible man; and on the part of the Republicans, and also of those Democrats who had left their party on account of the new doctrine, and now styled themselves "Gold Democrats," a bitter war was declared against the free silver heresy; and as early as August, especially in the north, and at all times until the eve of election, the battle waged equally

The uncertainty at the time prevalent, the sad condition of our country, the promises of better conditions by adopting the new doctrine and following the wonderful eloquence of the apostle, produced that great excitement four years ago, of which now nothing is noticeable. Everything is now quiet from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Nowhere a trace of excitement. In spite of the exertions of a part of the press to cause such by publishing inflammatory articles and inciting the public in a despicable manner.

The people seem to take no interest in the campaign; they even seem averse to doing so. There is neither desire nor time to talk politics. There has been plenty of work during the past three years, and of the serious wounds which the terrible times of panic caused, we now see only the scars. There is now plenty of work.

THE PEOPLE DO NOT WANT A CHANGE; they desire no new experiments like the one in 1892, for which they suffered so frightfully. The people say: "Let well enough alone," and will, accordingly, at the proper time. On that account everything is so quiet, so peaceful, in our country. The same question which four years ago caused such great excitement is again before the public, and the decision will be the same.

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS.

W. S. Kerr of Mansfield Tells Why Party Should Win.

Is Whether the People Know a Good Thing When They See It—Fulfillment of Republican Promises Should Incentive the People to Continue Party in Power.

Four years ago, when the people were borne down by financial disorder and business distress, the Republican party achieved a signal victory, because a large majority recognized the fact that alone through Republican legislation and the confidence inspired by Republican administration, could the country be lifted from the slough into which it had been thrown by four years of Democratic rule.

The judgment of this majority has been vindicated by three years of the most exuberant prosperity under Republican laws.

The only substantial issue is whether this same majority knows a good thing when they see it. If they do, McKinley will be elected. If they have forgotten the calamities, which were thick upon us during the last administration of Cleveland, and are stone blind to the splendid prosperity all around us now, there may be danger, but all signs indicate that this majority is endowed with a sound memory and good sight.

Men who were afraid of the Democratic party and of its new doctrines in 1896, should be more fearful now; the stake is greater. In 1896 hope was about all that was left, but today all of the vast business and industrial and agricultural interests of the country, in a condition at once safe and prosperous, depend upon the continuation of the Republican party in power.

with great business, there is no time for politics. The country is going right along any change of parties will not stop the great tide of business.

In 1892, and it may do so in 1900. Already the little doubt as to the result has hurt business. The Democratic party can not be trusted to help the country during panic and distress, nor to keep us along prosperous lines in times like the present. It has no statesmanship of the right kind. It has always been wrong about the disease and the remedy.

In 1892 the Democratic party said that the evil was high prices caused by a protective tariff. They enacted the Wilson bill and prices came down.

In 1896 they said the great evil is low prices caused by the gold standard, and the sole remedy is free silver at 16 to 1. Upon the prediction of the campaign of 1896, the leaders of the Democratic party staked their reputations as statesmen and lost them. They assured the people that times could get no better without the free coinage of silver. Against that proposition we asserted that the whole trouble was the lack of employment at remunerative wages, and that the remedy was the enactment of a protective tariff that would give the American producer protection and opportunity.

The result has verified every prediction we made, and under our policy the country has grown and prospered until it is marvel of the world.

This year the Democratic party appears with the concession that the tariff is all right—that the gold standard is not sufficiently dangerous to require discussion—that the country is all right—but, they assert, that we are in danger of becoming an imperial power. And so we are. If the Republican party remains in power another decade, this nation will be the mightiest nation of the earth. Without war or bloodshed, without forming political connections with foreign nations or encroachment upon their right or domain, we will wield a power that will make us masters of the world—an imperial nation. The nations will want our products, and through the peaceful channels of trade and commerce we will conquer.

SOUTH KICKING

Over the Application of Bryan's Catch Phrase to Negro Vote.

The Bryan warcry, "consent of the governed," is proving a two-edged sword to the Bryan managers, smiting their friends and dividing their forces. A strong chorus of dissatisfaction is arising in the south over the reproach cast by the Indianapolis anti-imperialist platform upon the political methods of the Democratic party in that section, by which alone Bryan can get any Democratic electoral votes in the south.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial-Appeal and Macon (Ga.) Telegraph are representing that resolution of the Indianapolis anti-imperialist convention, which declares that in supporting the principles of the Declaration of Independence they meant to apply them to the negro race in America, as well as to the Philippines, and that they deprecate all efforts to deprive the negro of his rights as a citizen. The Macon Telegraph, for example, says that "there can be no objection to these people voting the Democratic ticket; but it is very offensive to the people of the south for the south-hating, negro-loving agitators like Boutwell to give them a slap in the face upon the threshold, when they declare themselves Democratic."

Cleveland's free trade panic proved that every man, every woman, has a direct personal interest in having the right president. Let every one imperiled financially by the risks of Bryanism help then to vote him out again.

If you don't do your own duty in this campaign and election, never blame anyone else if trouble comes.

FREIGHT RATES TO STAND.

New York, Sept. 6.—A meeting of the freight agents of the Trunk Line association was held here yesterday to consider the alleged grievances of steel and iron shippers who recently complained that the present schedule from Pittsburgh to the seaboard operated against them in favor of lake ports. In proof of this complaint they pointed out that the present rate on steel shipments from Pittsburgh to the seaboard is 18 cents per 100 pounds, while from Cleveland to New York via Buffalo and the Erie canal the rate is 8 cents.

This and similar complaints were laid before the agents at yesterday's session, which was presided over by Commissioner Goddard. The matter was debated in all its phases, and after a protracted session it was resolved to maintain the present rates without the slightest deviation. In explanation of the determined attitude of the agents Commissioner Goddard said that a reduction in rates to the seaboard for export would probably have resulted in a confusion of domestic freight rates, and rather than upset the present classification it was deemed best to leave rates undisturbed.

Powers Sentenced to Prison For Life.

Georgetown, Ky., Sept. 6.—Judge Cantrell yesterday overruled the bill of exceptions in the case of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers, convicted as accessory before the fact to the assassination of William Goebel and sentenced the prisoner for life.

From Newsboy to Judgeship.

Steubenville, O., Sept. 6.—Republicans of the Seventh Ohio judicial district have nominated John M. Cook, of this city, for circuit judge. Mr. Cook was born and reared in Pittsburg, and got his start in life selling papers. He is recognized as the head of the bar here.

THE WEATHER.

Western Pennsylvania and Ohio: Partly cloudy today; showers and cooler tonight or tomorrow; fresh south to west winds.

West Virginia: Fair and warm today; tomorrow showers and cooler; south to west winds.

ATTITUDE OF JAPAN.

It Is Said Her Troops Will Remain In Peking.

BAD MORAL EFFECT TO WITHDRAW.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—A member of the Japanese legation in Berlin informed the correspondent of the Associated Press yesterday that the legation had not yet been advised as to the attitude of Japan regarding the withdrawal of the international troops from Peking. The official in question, however, expressed the opinion that the Japanese troops would remain there.

"The withdrawal of the allies," said the official, "would have a very bad moral effect in China. Russia, I believe, will withdraw because from her standpoint this is the shrewdest thing to do, as it would insure the continuance of her influence in Peking, particularly with Li Hung Chang, who has always been ready to do Russia's will in China."

The papers comment this evening upon Russia's latest communique and upon the utterances of the Journal de St. Petersburg regarding it. The Vossische Zeitung says that it will not make Russia's surprising step any more intelligible. The National Zeitung observes:

"Indirectly this communique confirms the view that Russia no longer insists upon her proposition to withdraw the troops from Peking. We can only interpret her latest declaration in a sense favorable to the harmony of the powers."

The Berliner Tageblatt, which understands Russia's sharply accentuated declaration against military action extending beyond the capture of Peking aimed at Germany, says: "Russia is jealous of so strong a rival in China as Germany, since she wishes to establish for herself a sort of Monroe doctrine there. Her proposition is dictated by political and not by military motives."

The Freisinnige Zeitung complains that Germany is handling the question of the evacuation of Peking in a dilatory fashion, and the Rheinische Westfaelische Zeitung devotes a series of articles to Germany's China policy sharply attacking it.

The Frankfurter Zeitung prints a Shanghai special, saying that the new German minister to China, Baron Mumm von Schwarzenstein, visited the Chinese quarter of the city without a military escort and returned without molestation.

London, Sept. 6.—The cancellation of the order holding back the Fourth Indian brigade is regarded as important. It shows that, whatever the outcome of the Russian policy, the British government is determined to have sufficient troops on the spot to adequately protect British interests.

Considerable significance is attached to the statement by the Journal de St. Petersburg as possibly indicating a modification of the Russian policy. This paper is the organ of the Russian foreign office, its editor being a councillor of state. It is noted that, while the Journal de St. Petersburg announces Russia's determination to maintain the solidarity of the powers

it only mentions the withdrawal of the ministers and not of the troops to Tien Tsin. It is believed that the powers might agree to such a modification of the original Russian proposal.

The Vienna correspondent of The Times, discussing the situation, declares that Japan has a strong disposition to act in harmony with the United States in the Chinese question.

A Shanghai dispatch announces that German troops will land there today (Thursday). Curiously enough they will be located in barracks adjoining the residence of Li Hung Chang.

United States Consul Goodnow, according to The Daily News, says there never was any necessity for landing troops at Shanghai.

CLEARING OUT THE BOXERS.

Taku, Sept. 6.—An expedition will shortly start for Pao Ting Fu, clearing the villages en route which were the seat of the first Boxer outrages in the province of Chi Li. The Russian intend to repair the railway through to Peking.

It is reliably asserted that native soldiery, acting under the orders of Li Hung Chang, are exterminating the Boxers in the provinces of Hu Nan and Chi Li. Four prominent Boxers were executed in Tien Tsin yesterday. The French shot two and the Japanese beheaded the others. The executions have had a good moral effect.

THE EMPRESS GROWS DEFIANT.

Says the Court Fled From Peking to Save the Emperor's Life.

Shanghai, Sept. 6.—An imperial edict, dated Tai Yuan Fu, Aug 20, says the court fled from Peking on account of the disturbances between the Boxers and the Christians and the fear that the emperor would be killed.

The viceroys are exhorted to unite in order to avenge the injuries suffered at the hands of the allies; to raise taxes and to enroll troops. The edict is signed by the empress dowager, and is worded in a defiant tone.

"Hello, Mike, do you find much to do now?"

"Yis. I'm jest after cuttin down a trae, and tomorrow I'll have to cut it up."—Albany Journal.
